

Training Opportunities

April 2020

ATP Flash Trainings and Webinars

Active Transportation Resource Center (ATRC) offers Flash Trainings, short recorded training modules, and an archive of webinars to help applicants and awardees navigate various aspects of the ATP. This includes topics like TIMS-ATP Tool, Master Agreements for Non-Traditional Partners, and Guidance on the Non-Infrastructure Work Plan. The most recent webinar, Active Transportation First/Last mile to Transit, covers an overview of active transportation projects, highlights State support of this work and how LA Metro uses planning and community engagement techniques to develop First/Last Mile Projects.

Trainings available on caatpresources.org

California LTAP Center

The Local Technical Assistance Program offers both in-person and online trainings for local agencies, including a training series on Federal-Aid projects. Additional dates for trainings are anticipated soon.

Visit californialtap.org for more information.

FHWA-led Designing for Pedestrian and Bicycle Safety Sources

The Active Transportation Resource Center (ATRC) partners with the Federal Highway Administration (FHWA) to offer customized training for your agency. The training courses include Designing for Pedestrian Safety 101 and 201, Designing for Bicyclist Safety, How to Develop a Pedestrian Safety Action Plan, Complete Streets Implementation, and more.

For more information or to request a training, please email ATRC@csus.edu

Pre-Application Technical Assistance for Active Transportation Program

Metro offers pre-application technical assistance for Los Angeles County cities, agencies, or other applicants preparing an application for the Active Transportation Program. Applicants can request an overview of the ATP or a project-specific review with Metro's Planning staff.

Contact quans@metro.net

America Walks Webinars

America Walks offers webinar programming for various active transportation topics, taking place every second Wednesday of each month at 11am. Topics for April through June include developing cross-disciplinary partnerships, land-use and zoning to promote walkable communities, and enhancing walkable spaces through public art.

Trainings available on americawalks.org/2020-webinars-april-june/