EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The proposed Los Angeles Aerial Rapid Transit Project ("Project") would connect Los Angeles Union Station (LAUS) to the Dodger Stadium property via an aerial gondola system. The Project would provide an aerial rapid transit option for visitors to Dodger Stadium, while also providing access between Dodger Stadium, the surrounding communities, and the regional transit system accessible at Union Station. The Project would reduce the traffic to and from Dodger Stadium on game day and on days with an event at the Stadium, with resulting benefits to air quality. This assessment evaluates the changes in criteria air pollutant emissions. The proposed Project is expected to be operational as early as 2026, with construction beginning as early as 2024.

The Project would result in emissions of criteria air pollutants, such as nitrogen oxides (NO_X), carbon monoxide (CO), volatile organic compounds (VOCs), sulfur oxides (SO_X), and particulate matter (PM) of aerodynamic diameter less than 10 microns (PM_{10}) or less than 2.5 microns ($PM_{2.5}$). This report provides an inventory surveying the emissions that would result from construction and operation of the Project. The Project would also result in emissions of toxic air contaminants (TACs), including diesel particulate matter (DPM). This report provides an evaluation of human health impacts from the DPM that would result from Project construction.

Methodology based on the California Emissions Estimator Model (CalEEMod®) version 2020.4.0[1] along with other methods based on regulatory and scientific literature were used to estimate criteria air pollutant and DPM emissions for the Project. Air dispersion modeling of construction emissions and a health risk assessment were performed using methods recommended by regulatory agencies, including the United States Environmental Protection Agency (USEPA), California Air Resources Board (CARB), and South Coast Air Quality Management District (SCAQMD).

For Project construction, the estimated maximum mass daily emissions are less than the SCAQMD mass daily significance thresholds for all criteria pollutants, as shown in Table ES-1. To evaluate localized ambient air quality impacts from onsite construction activities this report uses SCAQMD's localized significance threshold (LST) methodology. As shown in Table ES-2, estimated maximum onsite daily emissions are below the applicable SCAQMD mass-rate LSTs for NO_X, CO, PM_{10}, and $PM_{2.5}$ at all onsite locations when evaluated by individual localized activity area. Since this screening analysis shows that construction emissions are below the mass-rate LSTs, further air dispersion modeling was not required. Furthermore, a conservative approach shows that onsite NOx emissions would not exceed the federal 1-hour NO_2 standard.

The risk characterization results from the construction health risk assessment show that the maximum incremental cancer risk and chronic non-cancer impacts would be below their respective SCAQMD significance thresholds for all modeled receptors (see Table ES-3). In addition, the Project's cancer burden would also be less than the SCAQMD threshold (see Table ES-4).

For Project operations, the estimated maximum mass daily emissions are less than the SCAQMD mass daily significance thresholds for all criteria pollutants, as shown in Table ES-5. In addition, an analysis of the Project's intersections shows that the highest average daily trips at an intersection would be well below the daily traffic volumes expected to generate exceedances of the CO standards.

1. INTRODUCTION

The purpose of this technical report is to present the quantitative analyses that were used to evaluate air quality emissions and health risk impacts associated with the proposed Los Angeles Aerial Rapid Transit Project ("Project"). Emissions during both construction and operation of the Project were quantified and compared to the South Coast Air Quality (SCAQMD) daily mass significance thresholds. In addition, air dispersion modeling and a health risk assessment (HRA) of construction emissions was performed, and the results were used to evaluate human health impacts associated with construction of the Project on the residences and sensitive receptors located within its vicinity.

Existing conditions are represented by the air quality emissions in 2019 from vehicle traffic associated with those attending Dodger games and other major events at Dodger Stadium.

1.1 Project Description

1.1.1 Project Overview

The Project would connect Los Angeles Union Station (LAUS) to the Dodger Stadium property via an aerial gondola system. The Project would include an intermediate station at the southernmost entrance of the Los Angeles State Historic Park. The Project would provide an aerial rapid transit (ART) option for visitors to Dodger Stadium, while also providing access between the Dodger Stadium property, the surrounding communities, including Chinatown, Mission Junction, the Los Angeles State Historic Park, Elysian Park, and Solano Canyon, to the regional transit system accessible at LAUS. The aerial gondola system would be approximately 1.2 miles and consist of cables, three passenger stations, a non-passenger junction, towers, and gondola cabins. When complete, the Project would have a maximum capacity of approximately 5,000 people per hour per direction, and the travel time from LAUS to Dodger Stadium would be approximately seven minutes.

The Project would provide amenities at Los Angeles State Historic Park and would provide pedestrian improvements, including hardscape and landscape improvements. The ART system has the ability to overcome grade and elevation issues between LAUS and Dodger Stadium, be powered by renewable electricity, and provide safe, environmentally friendly, and high-capacity transit connectivity in the Project area. The Project would operate daily to serve existing residents, workers, park users, and visitors to Los Angeles.

1.1.2 Project Location

The Project is located in the City of Los Angeles, situated northeast of downtown Los Angeles.

The Project would commence adjacent to LAUS and El Pueblo de Los Angeles ("El Pueblo") and terminate at Dodger Stadium, with an intermediate station at the southernmost entrance of the Los Angeles State Historic Park. The Project would include three stations, a non-passenger junction, and three cable-supporting towers at various locations along the alignment. The Project "alignment" is defined as the length and width of suspended above-grade cables and cabins following the position of the Project components along the ART proposed alignment from Alameda Station to Dodger Stadium Station.

The Project location would generally be located within public right-of-way (ROW), or on publicly owned property, following Alameda Street and then continuing along Spring Street in a northeast direction through the community of Chinatown to the southernmost corner of the Los Angeles State Historic Park. The alignment would then continue northeast over the western edge of the Los Angeles State Historic Park and the Los Angeles County Metropolitan Transportation Authority (Metro) L Line (Gold) to the intersection of North Broadway and Bishops Road. At this intersection, the Project alignment would turn and continue northwest following Bishops Road towards its terminus at Dodger Stadium, located in the Elysian Park community.

1.1.3 Project System Operations

During operations, the cabins would travel on a continuous loop between Alameda Station and Dodger Stadium Station. Cabins would pass through passenger stations at roughly one foot per second (less than one mile per hour) to allow for unloading and loading. Operation of the Project would require approximately 20 personnel.

The Project would require routine maintenance that would be performed by the system operator. The overall system would be observed on a daily basis as part of the startup routine.

Operational power requirements can be separated into two categories: normal operations and emergency operations. Power requirements for one hundred percent of the power for the Project would be provided by the City of Los Angeles Department of Water and Power's (LADWP's) Green Power Program, through a connection to their power grid, and would include the power to operate the gondola system and the non-gondola system components (i.e. lights, ventilation, escalators, elevators). When operating at capacity, normal operations are estimated to require a total of approximately 2.5 megawatts of power.

Power requirements for emergency operations consist of the energy needed for operations in the event of a temporary power grid failure. The Project would install backup battery storage at each station, tower, and junction to provide backup power to allow unloading of the system in the event of a temporary power grid failure. The total backup power required to allow unloading of the system is 1.4 megawatts.

1.1.4 Project Sustainability Features

The Project's stations, junction, towers, and gondola cabins would incorporate energy efficient, sustainable, water and waste efficient, and resilient features. The proposed stations and junction are designed to be open-air buildings, allowing for passive ventilation strategies and providing direct access to outdoor air and natural daylight, while also providing adequate shade from heat. The cabins would be ventilated to enhance air quality for passengers. The electrical power for the Project would be supplied by LADWP through the utility's Green Power Program. Accordingly, the primary electricity usage associated with the Project would come from renewable resources. In addition, the Project would install backup battery storage at each station, tower, and junction to provide backup power to allow unloading of the system in the event of a temporary power grid failure.

The design intent and structural strategy for the stations and towers also provides an efficiency of materials. The steel plate tower forms have been designed as "Monocoque" structures, where structure, form, and finish are unified. Materials for the stations, junction, and towers would be locally sourced where possible and would include recycled content where possible. Light-toned finish materials will also serve to minimize heat island concerns.

The Project would be designed to comply with all applicable state and local codes, including conformance with the City of Los Angeles Green Building and Low-Impact Development (LID) Ordinances.

This Project would reduce the traffic to and from Dodger Stadium on game days and for other events, with resulting benefits to air quality and greenhouse gases (GHGs). This report provides an inventory surveying the emissions that would result from the Project.

Analysis of the Project's emissions incorporates the following regulatory measures:

Regulatory Measures - Quantified Reductions

Construction

- Compliance with SCAQMD Rule 403 regarding fugitive dust. The construction emission estimates include a fugitive dust control factor, which is a conservative representation of the level of fugitive dust control expected through compliance with SCAQMD Rule 403. This analysis quantifies the following aspects of compliance with SCAQMD Rule 403:
  - Watering active construction areas at least two times daily to minimize fugitive dust emissions[2]
- Compliance with SCAQMD Rule 1113 regarding architectural coatings. This rule limits the volatile organic compound (VOC) content of architectural coatings used in the area under the jurisdiction of the SCAQMD.

Operations

- Compliance with VOC limits per SCAQMD Rule 1113 regarding architectural coatings;

Project Design Features

The following project design features were incorporated into the analysis, which are described in the inventory:

- All off-road diesel-powered construction equipment greater than 50 horsepower shall meet, at a minimum, the Tier 4 emission standards for nonroad diesel engines promulgated by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (USEPA).

1.2 Existing Settings

1.2.1 Climate and Meteorology

Climate within the South Coast Air Basin (SCAB) is determined by its terrain and geographical location. The SCAB is a coastal plain with connecting broad valleys and low hills. The Pacific Ocean forms the southwestern border, and high mountains surround the rest of the SCAB. The region lies in the semi-permanent high-pressure zone of the eastern Pacific. The resulting climate is mild and tempered by cool ocean breezes. It maintains moderate temperatures and comfortable humidity, and limits precipitation to a few storms during the winter-wet season. This weather pattern is rarely interrupted. However, periods of extremely hot weather, winter storms, or Santa Ana winds do exist.

Although the SCAB has a semi-arid climate, air near the surface is generally moist because of the presence of a shallow marine layer. With very low average wind speeds, there is a limited capacity to disperse air contaminants horizontally. The typical wind flow pattern fluctuates only with occasional winter storms or strong northeasterly Santa Ana winds from the mountains and deserts northeast of the SCAB. Summer wind flow patterns represents worst-case conditions, as this is the period of higher temperatures and more sunlight, which results in ozone formation.

[2] Note that the control efficiency of watering is dependent on numerous variables such as soil/ground conditions, temperature, and vehicle travel specifics. Increased frequency and/or watering amounts are expected to improve the control efficiency. The control effectiveness in this analysis is based on the CalEEMod® default for this watering assumption.

1.2.2 Local Air Quality Monitoring Data

The Project alignment is located within the SCAQMD jurisdiction. The SCAQMD maintains ambient air quality monitoring stations throughout the SCAB. The Central LA air monitoring station is the station closest to the Project alignment. The Central LA air monitoring station monitors carbon monoxide (CO), nitrogen dioxide (NO_2), ozone (O_3), sulfur dioxide (SO_2), and particulate matter (PM) of aerodynamic diameter less than 2.5 microns ($PM_{2.5}$) and 10 microns (PM_{10}).

Table 1-1 lists the most recent five years of published data at the Central LA monitoring station for CO, NO_2, O_3, SO_2, $PM_{2.5}$, and PM_{10}, at the Central LA station which shows:

- O_3 levels have exceeded the State 1-hour in four of the past five years, and the 8-hour standards and the federal standard in all of the past five years;
- CO levels are below the State and federal standards;
- NO_2 levels are below the State and federal standards;
- SO_2 levels are below the State and federal standards;
- PM_{10} levels exceeded the State 24-hour standard in all of the past five years, and the State annual standards in all of the past five years; PM_{10} levels are below the federal 24-hour standard; and
- $PM_{2.5}$ levels exceeded federal 24-hour standards in all of the past five years, and were below State and federal annual levels in all years except 2018 and 2020.

2. ENVIRONMENTAL AND REGULATORY BACKGROUND

2.1 Criteria Air Pollutants

Criteria air pollutants (CAPs) are defined as pollutants for which the federal and state governments have established ambient air quality standards, or criteria, for outdoor concentrations to protect public health. The federal and state standards have been set, with an adequate margin of safety, at levels above which concentrations could be harmful to human health and welfare. These standards are designed to protect the most sensitive people from illness or discomfort. Pollutants of concern include O_3, NO_2, CO, sulfur dioxide (SO_2), PM_{10}, $PM_{2.5}$, and lead (Pb). In California, sulfates, vinyl chloride, hydrogen sulfide, and visibility-reducing particles are also regulated as criteria air pollutants. These pollutants are discussed in the following paragraphs.

2.1.1 Ozone

Ozone (O_3) is a colorless gas that is formed in the atmosphere when VOCs, sometimes referred to as reactive organic gases, and oxides of nitrogen (NO_x) react in the presence of ultraviolet sunlight. O_3 is not a primary pollutant; it is a secondary pollutant formed by complex interactions of two pollutants directly emitted into the atmosphere. The primary sources of VOCs and NO_X, the precursors of O_3, are automobile exhaust and industrial sources. Meteorology and terrain play major roles in O_3 formation, and ideal conditions occur during summer and early autumn on days with low wind speeds or stagnant air, warm temperatures, and cloudless skies. Short-term exposures (lasting for a few hours) to O_3 at levels typically observed in Southern California can result in breathing pattern changes, reduction of breathing capacity, increased susceptibility to infections, inflammation of the lung tissue, and some immunological changes.

2.1.2 Nitrogen Dioxide

Most NO_2, like O_3, is not directly emitted into the atmosphere but is formed by an atmospheric chemical reaction between nitric oxide (NO) and atmospheric oxygen. NO and NO_2 are collectively referred to as NO_X and are major contributors to O_3 formation. The primary sources of NO, the precursor to NO_2, include automobile exhaust and industrial sources. High concentrations of NO_2 can cause breathing difficulties and result in a brownish-red cast to the atmosphere, causing reduced visibility. There is some indication of a relationship between NO_2 and chronic pulmonary fibrosis, and some increase in bronchitis in children (2 and 3 years old) has also been observed at concentrations below 0.3 parts per million by volume (ppm).

2.1.3 Carbon Monoxide

Carbon monoxide (CO) is a colorless and odorless gas formed by the incomplete combustion of fossil fuels. CO is emitted almost exclusively from motor vehicles, power plants, refineries, industrial boilers, ships, aircraft, and trains. In urban areas, such as the project location, automobile exhaust accounts for the majority of CO emissions. CO is a non-reactive air pollutant that dissipates relatively quickly; therefore, ambient CO concentrations generally follow the spatial and temporal distributions of vehicular traffic. CO concentrations are influenced by local meteorological conditions, primarily wind speed, topography, and atmospheric stability. CO from motor vehicle exhaust can become locally concentrated when surface-based temperature inversions are combined with calm atmospheric conditions, a typical situation at dusk in urban areas between November and February. The highest levels of CO typically occur during the colder months of the year when inversion conditions, where a layer of warm air sits atop cool air, are more frequent and can trap pollutants close to the ground. In terms of health, CO competes with oxygen, often replacing it in the blood, thus reducing the blood's ability to transport oxygen to vital organs. The results of excess CO exposure can be dizziness, fatigue, and impairment of central nervous system functions.

2.1.4 Sulfur Dioxide

Sulfur dioxide (SO_2) is a colorless, pungent gas formed primarily by the combustion of sulfur-containing fossil fuels. The main sources of SO_2 are coal and oil used in power plants and industries; as such, the highest levels of SO_2 are generally found near large industrial complexes. In recent years, SO_2 concentrations have been reduced by the increasingly stringent controls placed on stationary source emissions of SO_2 and limits placed on the sulfur content of fuels. SO_2 is an irritant gas that attacks the throat and lungs, and can cause acute respiratory symptoms and diminished ventilator function in children. SO_2 can also yellow plant leaves and erode iron and steel.

2.1.5 Particulate Matter

Particulate matter (PM) pollution consists of very small liquid and solid particles floating in the air, which can include smoke, soot, dust, salts, acids, and metals. Particulate matter can form when gases emitted from industries and motor vehicles undergo chemical reactions in the atmosphere. $PM_{2.5}$ and PM_{10} represent fractions of particulate matter. Fine particulate matter, or $PM_{2.5}$, is roughly 1/28 the diameter of a human hair. $PM_{2.5}$ results from fuel combustion (e.g., motor vehicles, power generation, and industrial facilities), residential fireplaces, and woodstoves. In addition, $PM_{2.5}$ can be formed in the atmosphere from gases such as sulfur oxides (SO_X), NO_X, and VOCs. Inhalable or coarse particulate matter, or PM_{10}, is about one- seventh the thickness of a human hair. Major sources of PM_{10} include crushing or grinding operations; dust stirred up by vehicles traveling on roads; wood-burning stoves and fireplaces; dust from construction, landfills, and agriculture; wildfires and brush/waste burning; industrial sources; windblown dust from open lands; and atmospheric chemical and photochemical reactions.

$PM_{2.5}$ and PM_{10} pose a greater health risk than larger-size particles. When inhaled, these tiny particles can penetrate the human respiratory system's natural defenses and damage the respiratory tract. $PM_{2.5}$ and PM_{10} can increase the number and severity of asthma attacks, cause or aggravate bronchitis and other lung diseases, and reduce the body's ability to fight infections. Very small particles of substances such as lead, sulfates, and nitrates can cause lung damage directly or be absorbed into the bloodstream, causing damage elsewhere in the body. Additionally, these substances can transport absorbed gases, such as chlorides or ammonium, into the lungs, also causing injury. Whereas PM_{10} tends to collect in the upper portion of the respiratory system, $PM_{2.5}$ is so tiny that it can penetrate deeper into the lungs and damage lung tissues. Suspended particulates also damage and discolor surfaces on which they settle, as well as produce haze and reduce regional visibility.

2.1.6 Lead

Lead (Pb) in the atmosphere occurs as particulate matter. Sources of lead include leaded gasoline, the manufacturing of batteries, paint, ink, ceramics, ammunition, and secondary lead smelters. Prior to 1978, mobile emissions were the primary source of atmospheric lead. Between 1978 and 1987, the phase-out of leaded gasoline reduced the overall inventory of airborne lead by nearly 95 percent. With the phase-out of leaded gasoline, secondary lead smelters, battery recycling, and manufacturing facilities are becoming lead-emission sources of greater concern.

Prolonged exposure to atmospheric lead poses a serious threat to human health. Health effects associated with exposure to lead include gastrointestinal disturbances, anemia, kidney disease, and in severe cases, neuromuscular and neurological dysfunction. Of particular concern are low-level lead exposures during infancy and childhood. Such exposures are associated with decrements in neurobehavioral performance, including intelligence quotient performance, psychomotor performance, reaction time, and growth.

2.1.7 Sulfates

Sulfates are the fully oxidized form of sulfur, which typically occur in combination with metals or hydrogen ions. Sulfates are produced from reactions of SO_2 in the atmosphere. Sulfates can result in respiratory impairment, as well as reduced visibility.

2.1.8 Vinyl Chloride

Vinyl chloride is a colorless gas with a mild, sweet odor, which has been detected near landfills, sewage plants, and hazardous waste sites, due to the microbial breakdown of chlorinated solvents. Short-term exposure to high levels of vinyl chloride in air can cause nervous system effects, such as dizziness, drowsiness, and headaches. Long-term exposure through inhalation can cause liver damage, including liver cancer.

2.1.9 Hydrogen Sulfide

Hydrogen sulfide is a colorless and flammable gas that has a characteristic odor of rotten eggs. Sources of hydrogen sulfide include geothermal power plants, petroleum refineries, sewers, and sewage treatment plants. Exposure to hydrogen sulfide can result in nuisance odors, as well as headaches and breathing difficulties at higher concentrations.

2.1.10 Visibility-Reducing Particles

Visibility-reducing particles are any particles in the air that obstruct the range of visibility. Effects of reduced visibility can include obscuring the view shed of natural scenery, reduced airport safety, and discouraging tourism. Sources of visibility-reducing particles are the same as for $PM_{2.5}$ described above.

2.2 Non-Criteria Air Pollutants

2.2.1 Toxic Air Contaminants

A substance is considered toxic if it has the potential to cause adverse health effects in humans, including increasing the risk of cancer upon exposure, or acute and/or chronic non-cancer health effects. A toxic substance released into the air is considered a toxic air contaminant (TAC). Examples include certain aromatic and chlorinated hydrocarbons, certain metals, and asbestos. TACs are generated by a number of sources, including stationary sources such as dry cleaners, gas stations, combustion sources, and laboratories; mobile sources such as automobiles; and area sources such as landfills. Adverse health effects associated with exposure to TACs may include carcinogenic (i.e., cancer-causing) and non-carcinogenic effects. Non-carcinogenic effects typically affect one or more target organ systems and may be experienced either on short-term (acute) or long-term (chronic) exposure to a given TAC.

2.2.2 Diesel Particulate Matter

Diesel particulate matter (DPM) is part of a complex mixture that makes up diesel exhaust. Diesel exhaust is composed of two phases, gas and particle, both of which contribute to health risks. The California Air Resources Board (CARB) classified "particulate emissions from diesel-fueled engines" (17 CCR 93000) as a TAC in August 1998. DPM is emitted from a broad range of diesel engines: on-road diesel engines of trucks, buses, and cars, and off-road diesel engines including locomotives, marine vessels, and heavy-duty construction equipment, among others.

2.3 Regulatory Setting

2.3.1 Federal and State Ambient Air Quality Standards for Criteria Air Pollutants

The federal Clean Air Act (CAA) requires the adoption of national ambient air quality standards (NAAQS), which are periodically updated, to protect the public health and welfare from the effects of air pollution. Current federal standards are set for SO_2, CO, NO_2, O_3, PM_{10}, $PM_{2.5}$, and Pb.[3]

The State of California also has established additional standards, known as the California Ambient Air Quality Standards (CAAQS),[4] which are generally more restrictive than the NAAQS. The current NAAQS and CAAQS are shown in Table 1-2.

Specific geographic areas are classified as either "attainment" or "non-attainment" areas for each pollutant based upon the comparison of measured data with the NAAQS and CAAQS. Those areas designated as "non-attainment" for purposes of NAAQS compliance are required to prepare regional air quality plans, which set forth a strategy for bringing an area into compliance with the standards. These regional air quality plans developed to meet federal requirements are included in an overall program referred to as the State Implementation Plan (SIP).

Whenever the USEPA revises or establishes a new NAAQS, the State and the USEPA have specific obligations to ensure that the NAAQS is met.[5] These are listed below:

- The USEPA must designate areas as meeting (attainment areas) or not meeting (non-attainment areas) the NAAQS within two years after its promulgation.
- States must submit "infrastructure SIPs" to show that they have the basic air quality management program components in place to implement the NAAQS within three years after its promulgation.
- States must submit non-attainment area SIPs that outline the strategies and emission control measures that will improve air quality and make the area meet the NAAQS within 18 to 36 months after designation.

The steps involved in the SIP process are described below.[6]

- SIPs must be developed with public input and be formally adopted by the state and submitted to the USEPA by the Governor's designee (e.g., CARB in California).
- The USEPA reviews each SIP and proposes to approve or disapprove all or part it. The public is then provided with an opportunity to comment on the USEPA's proposed action. The USEPA considers public input before taking final action on a state's plan.
- If the USEPA approves all or part of a SIP, those control measures are enforceable in federal court. In the event a state fails to submit an approvable SIP or if the USEPA disapproves a SIP, the USEPA is required to develop a Federal Implementation Plan (FIP).

Table 1-3 summarizes the attainment status of Los Angeles County for the pollutants regulated by the NAAQS and CAAQS.[7] As seen in Table 1-3, Los Angeles County is currently in attainment (or unclassified or maintenance) for: the federal 24-hour PM_{10} standard, the federal and State CO standards, the federal and State NO_2 standards, the federal and State SO_2 standards, and the State hydrogen sulfide, vinyl chloride, sulfates, and visibility-reducing particles standards. However, as also shown in Table 1-3, Los Angeles County is currently designated as nonattainment for the federal and State O_3 standards, the State PM_{10} standards, the federal and State $PM_{2.5}$ standards, and the federal Pb standards.[8,9,10]

2.3.2 Federal Heavy-duty Engines and Vehicles Fuel Efficiency Standards

In 2010, President Obama issued a memorandum directing federal agencies to establish additional standards regarding fuel efficiency and GHG reduction, clean fuels, and advanced vehicle infrastructure. In response to this directive, the USEPA and National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) proposed stringent, coordinated federal GHG and fuel economy standards for model year 2017–2025 light-duty vehicles. The proposed standards are projected to achieve 163 grams/mile of CO_2 in model year 2025, on an average industry fleet-wide basis, which is equivalent to 54.5 miles per gallon (mpg) if this level were achieved solely through fuel efficiency. The final rule was adopted in 2012 for model years 2017–2021, with NHTSA intending to set standards for model years 2022–2025 in a future rulemaking.

In addition to the regulations applicable to cars and light-duty trucks described above, in 2011, the USEPA and NHTSA announced fuel economy and GHG standards for medium- and heavy-duty trucks for model years 2014–2018. The standards for CO_2 emissions and fuel consumption are tailored to three main vehicle categories: combination tractors, heavy-duty pickup trucks and vans, and vocational vehicles.

In August 2016, the USEPA and NHTSA announced the adoption of the phase two program related to the fuel economy and GHG standards for medium- and heavy-duty trucks. The phase two program will apply to vehicles with model year 2018 through 2027 for certain trailers, and model years 2021 through 2027 for semi-trucks, large pickup trucks, vans and all types of sizes of buses and work trucks. The final standards are expected to lower carbon dioxide emissions by approximately 1.1 billion metric tons (MT) and reduce oil consumption by up to two billion barrels over the lifetime of the vehicles sold under the program.[11]

In August 2017, the USEPA asked for additional information and data relevant to assessing whether the GHG emissions standards for model years 2022-2025 remain appropriate. In early 2018, the USEPA Administrator announced that the midterm evaluation for the GHG emissions standards for cars and light-duty trucks for model years 2022-2025 was completed and stated his determination that the current standards should be revised in light of recent data. Subsequently, in April 2018, the USEPA and NHTSA proposed to amend certain existing Corporate Average Fuel Economy (CAFE) standards for passenger cars and light trucks and establish new standards, covering model years 2022-2025. Compared to maintaining the post-2020 standards now in place, the pending proposal would increase U.S. fuel consumption.[12] California and other states have announced their intent to challenge federal actions that would delay or eliminate GHG reductions. In April 2020, NHTSA and EPA amended the CAFE and GHG emissions standards for passenger cars and light trucks and established new less stringent standards, covering model years 2021 through 2026.

On September 27, 2019, the USEPA and NHTSA published the SAFE Rule (Part One).[13] The SAFE Rule (Part One) went into effect in November 2019, and revoked California's authority to set its own GHGs standards and set zero emission vehicle mandates in California. The SAFE Rule (Part One) froze the requirements for new zero emission vehicles (ZEV) sales at model year 2020 levels for year 2021 and beyond, and would have likely resulted in a lower number of future ZEVs and a corresponding greater number of future gasoline internal combustion engine vehicles. The SAFE Rule was subject to ongoing litigation and on February 8, 2021 the D.C. Circuit Court of Appeals granted the Biden Administration's motion to stay litigation over Part 1 of the SAFE Rule. On April 22 and April 28, 2021, respectively, NHTSA and USEPA formally announced their intent to reconsider the Safe Rule (Part One).[14,15] In December 2021, after reviewing all the public comments submitted on NHTSA's April 2021 Notice of Proposed Rulemaking, NHTSA finalized the CAFE Preemption rulemaking to withdraw its portions of the SAFE Rule (Part One).[16] Also in December 2021, USEPA finalized revised national GHG emissions standards for passenger cars and light trucks for Model Years 2023- 2026.[17] On March 9, 2022, USEPA reinstated California's authority under the Clean Air Act to implement its own GHG emission standards and ZEV sales mandate and entirely rescinded the SAFE Rule (Part One).

2.3.3 Executive Order 14008

On January 27, 2021, President Biden issued an Executive Order on Tackling the Climate Crisis at Home and Abroad (Executive Order 14008).[18] Part I of the Order highlights putting the climate crisis at the center of United States foreign policy and national security. Addressing the climate crisis will require significant short-term global reductions in GHG emissions and net-zero global emissions by mid-century or sooner. The United States will pursue green recovery efforts and initiatives to advance the clean energy transition.

Part II of the Order relays the government-wide approach to the climate crisis, which involves reducing climate pollution in every sector of the economy, especially through innovation, commercialization, and deployment of clean energy technologies and infrastructure. A National Climate Task Force is established to focus on addressing the climate crisis through key federal actions to reduce climate change impacts. A 100 percent carbon pollution-free electricity sector is targeted by no later than 2035 and a net-zero emissions economy is to be achieved by no later than 2050. Electricity production by offshore wind resources is aimed to be doubled by 2030. Opportunities for federal funding of clean energy technology and infrastructure shall be identified. Federal permitting decisions need to consider the effects of GHG emissions and climate change.

2.3.4 State Regulations and Guidance

2.3.4.1 California Clean Air Act

The California Clean Air Act (California CAA) of 1988 substantially added to the authority and responsibilities of air districts. The California CAA designates air districts as lead air quality planning agencies, requires air districts to prepare air quality plans, and grants air districts authority to implement transportation control measures.

The California CAA focuses on attainment of the CAAQS and requires designation of attainment and nonattainment areas with respect to these standards. The California CAA also requires that local and regional air districts expeditiously adopt and prepare an air quality attainment plan (Clean Air Plan) if the district violates state air quality standards for ozone, CO, Sulfur Dioxide (SO_2), or NO_2. These plans are specifically designed to attain state standards and must be designed to achieve an annual five percent reduction in district-wide emissions of each nonattainment pollutant or its precursors. No locally prepared attainment plans are required for areas that violate the state PM_{10} standards; CARB is responsible for developing plans and projects that achieve compliance with the state PM_{10} standards.

The California CAA requires the CAAQS to be met as expeditiously as practicable but, unlike the federal CAA, does not set precise attainment deadlines. Instead, it establishes increasingly stringent requirements for areas that will require more time to achieve the standards.

The California CAA emphasizes the control of indirect and area-wide sources of air pollutant emissions. The California CAA gives local air pollution control districts explicit authority to regulate indirect sources of air pollution and establish Transportation Control Measures (TCMs). The California CAA does not define the terms indirect [sources] and area-wide sources. However, Section 110 of the federal CAA defines an indirect source as > …a facility, building, structure, installation, real property, road, or highway that attracts, or may attract, mobile sources of pollution. Such terms include parking lots, parking garages, and other facilities subject to any measure for management of parking supply….

TCMs are defined in the California CAA as "any strategy to reduce trips, vehicle use, vehicle miles traveled, vehicle idling, or traffic congestion for the purpose of reducing vehicle emissions."

2.3.4.2 California Health and Safety Code Section 41700

Section 41700 of the California Health and Safety Code states that a person shall not discharge from any source whatsoever quantities of air contaminants or other material that cause injury, detriment, nuisance, or annoyance to any considerable number of persons or to the public, or that endanger the comfort, repose, health, or safety of any of those persons or the public, or that cause, or have a natural tendency to cause, injury or damage to business or property. This section also applies to sources of objectionable odors.

2.3.4.3 California's Air Toxics Program

The state Air Toxics Program was established in 1983 under Assembly Bill (AB) 1807 (Tanner). The California TAC list identifies more than 700 pollutants, of which carcinogenic and non-carcinogenic toxicity criteria have been established for a subset of these pollutants pursuant to the California Health and Safety Code. In accordance with AB 2728, the state list includes the (federal) hazardous air pollutants.

The Air Toxics "Hot Spots" Information and Assessment Act of 1987 (AB 2588) seeks to identify and evaluate risk from air toxics sources; however, AB 2588 does not reduce the quantity of air toxics emissions. Instead, under AB 2588, TAC emissions from individual facilities are quantified and prioritized. "High-priority" facilities are required to perform a health risk assessment, and if specific thresholds are exceeded, are required to communicate the results to the public in the form of notices and public meetings.

In 2000, CARB approved a comprehensive Diesel Risk Reduction Plan to reduce diesel emissions from both new and existing diesel-fueled vehicles and engines.[19] The plan was anticipated to result in an 80 percent decrease in statewide diesel health risk in 2020 compared with the diesel risk in 2000. Additional regulations apply to new trucks and diesel fuel, including the On-Road Heavy Duty Diesel Vehicle (In-Use) Regulation (i.e., "Truck and Bus Regulation"), the On-Road Heavy Duty (New) Vehicle Program, the In-Use Off-Road Diesel-Fueled Fleets Regulation, and the New Off-Road Compression-Ignition (Diesel) Engines and Equipment Program. All of these regulations and programs have timetables by which manufacturers must comply and existing operators must upgrade their diesel-powered equipment. There also are several Airborne Toxic Control Measures (ATCMs) that reduce diesel emissions, including Diesel-Fueled Commercial Motor Vehicle Idling (13 CCR 2485) and Stationary Compression Ignition Engines (17 CCR 93115). Some of these measures are described in greater detail below.

[19] CARB. 2000. Risk Reduction Plan to Reduce Particulate Matter Emissions from Diesel-Fueled Engines and Vehicles. October. Available at: https://ww2.arb.ca.gov/sites/default/files/classic//diesel/documents/rrpfinal.pdf. Accessed: April 2022.

Truck and Bus Regulation

The Truck and Bus Regulation (13 CCR 2025) requires diesel trucks and buses to be upgraded to reduce emissions; newer heavier trucks and buses must meet PM filter requirements; lighter and older heavier trucks must be replaced; and, by January 1, 2023, nearly all trucks and buses will need to have 2010 model year engines or equivalent.

The regulation applies to nearly all privately and federally owned diesel-fueled trucks and buses, and to privately and publicly owned school buses with a gross vehicle weight rating greater than 14,000 pounds. The regulation provides a variety of flexibility options tailored to fleets operating low use vehicles, fleets operating in selected vocations like agricultural and construction, and small fleets of three or fewer trucks.

In-Use Off-Road Diesel-Fueled Fleets

The In-Use Off-Road Diesel-Fueled Fleets Regulation (13 CCR 2449) reduces DPM and NO_x emissions from in-use, off-road heavy-duty diesel vehicles in California. Such vehicles typically are used in construction, mining, and industrial operations. The regulations, among other requirements, impose limits on idling; require all vehicles to be reported to CARB (using the Diesel Off-Road Online Reporting System) and labeled; restrict the adding of older vehicles into fleets; and, require fleets to reduce their emissions by retiring, replacing, or repowering older engines, or installing Verified Diesel Emission Control Strategies (VDECS) (i.e., exhaust retrofits).

The requirements and compliance dates of the regulations vary by fleet size. Large fleets have compliance deadlines each year from 2014 through 2023, medium fleets each year from 2017 through 2023, and small fleets each year from 2019 through 2028.

ATCM: Diesel-Fueled Commercial Motor Vehicle Idling

The Diesel-Fueled Commercial Motor Vehicle Idling ATCM (13 CCR 2485) applies to diesel-fueled commercial motor vehicles with gross vehicular weight ratings of greater than 10,000 pounds that are or must be licensed for operation on highways. The measure limits idling of trucks to a maximum of 5 minutes, except when the vehicle is queuing. While this ATCM focuses on the reduction of DPM emissions as a toxic, this regulation would also help reduce the emissions of criteria air pollutants.

ATCM: Stationary Compression Ignition Engines

The Stationary Compression Ignition Engines ATCM (17 CCR 93115) establishes emission standards and fuel use requirements for new and in-use stationary engines used in prime and emergency back-up applications (non-agricultural) and for new stationary engines used in agricultural applications. While this ATCM focuses on the reduction of DPM emissions as a toxic, this regulation would also help reduce the emissions of criteria air pollutants.

2.3.4.4 California's Pavley Standards

Assembly Bill 1493 ("the Pavley Standard" or AB 1493) required CARB to adopt regulations to reduce GHG emissions from non-commercial passenger vehicles and light-duty trucks.

CARB's approach to passenger vehicles (cars and light trucks), under AB 1493, combines the control of smog-causing pollutants and GHG emissions into a single coordinated package of standards. This new approach also includes efforts to support and accelerate the numbers of plug-in hybrids and zero-emission vehicles in California. These standards will apply to all passenger and light duty trucks used by customers, employees of and deliveries to the Project. While AB 1493 focuses on the reduction of GHG emissions, it is anticipated that this regulation would also help reduce criteria air pollutants.

2.3.4.5 California's Advanced Clean Cars

CARB approved the Advanced Clean Car (ACC) program in 2012,[20] an emissions-control program for non-commercial passenger vehicles and light-duty trucks for model year 2017-2025. The program combines the control of smog, soot, and GHGs with requirements for greater numbers of zero-emission vehicles. By 2025, when the rules will be fully implemented, the new automobiles will emit 34 percent fewer global warming gases and 75 percent fewer smog-forming emissions. While ACC focuses on the reduction of GHG emissions, it is anticipated that this regulation would also help reduce criteria air pollutants.

2.3.4.6 Executive Order N-79-20

On September 23, 2020, California Governor Gavin Newsom issued Executive Order N-79-20, which entails the following actions:

- All new passenger vehicles sold in California be zero-emission by 2035
- All medium- and heavy-duty vehicles be zero-emission where feasible by 2045
- All off-road vehicles and equipment be zero-emission where feasible by 2035

Governor Newsom ordered extensive inter-agency efforts to support the Executive Order, including evaluations of technological feasibility and cost effectiveness, expansion of EV charging options and affordable fueling, as well as identification of near-term strategies to increase zero-emission public transportation options.

The Executive Order was generally aimed at transitioning away from fossil fuel dependence in the State, with emphasis on transportation initiatives. However, Governor Newsom addressed efforts to repurpose oil production facilities and extraction sites while continuing the State's existing goals to reduce the carbon intensity of fuels.[21]

2.3.5 Local Regulations and Guidance

Air pollution often does not conform to city and/or county jurisdictional boundaries, and the State has been divided into air basins based on geographical and meteorological conditions. Air pollution within each air basin is regulated by the regional air pollution control districts/air quality management districts, in a manner that is consistent with and in furtherance of standards adopted by the USEPA and CARB. The Project is located within the SCAB and the jurisdictional boundaries of the SCAQMD.

2.3.5.1 South Coast Air Quality Management District

District Rules and Regulations

While CARB is responsible for the regulation of mobile emission sources within the state, local Air Quality Management Districts (AQMDs) and Air Pollution Control Districts (APCDs) are responsible for enforcing standards and regulating stationary sources. The Project is located within the SCAB and is subject to the guidelines and regulations of the SCAQMD.

The SCAQMD was created by the 1977 Lewis-Presley Act, which merged four county air pollution control bodies (i.e., Los Angeles, Orange, and Riverside Counties, and the non-desert portion of San Bernardino County) into one regional district for the SCAB. In the SCAB, the SCAQMD is the agency responsible for protecting public health and welfare through the administration of federal and State air quality laws, regulations, and policies. Included in the SCAQMD's tasks are the monitoring of air pollution, the preparation of the Air Quality Management Plan (AQMP) for the SCAB, and the promulgation of rules and regulations. The AQMP includes strategies and tactics to be used to attain the NAAQS and CAAQS standards in SCAB, whereas the rules and regulations include procedures and requirements to control the emission of pollutants and to prevent adverse impacts.

For the Project area, the Southern California Association of Governments (SCAG) is the federally designated Metropolitan Planning Organization and the state-designated transportation planning agency for six counties: Riverside, San Bernardino, Los Angeles, Ventura, Imperial, and Orange Counties.

The SCAQMD and SCAG are jointly responsible for preparing the AQMP for the SCAB. In particular, the 2016 AQMP is based on demographic growth forecasts for various socioeconomic categories (e.g., population, housing, employment by industry) developed by SCAG for their 2016 Regional Transportation Plan (RTP), which forms part of SCAG's 2016-2040 Regional Transportation Plan/Sustainable Communities Strategy (RTP/SCS). Thus, consistency with the planning assumptions contained within the RTP/SCS demonstrates consistency with SCAQMD's 2016 AQMP. SCAG's 2016-2040 RTP/SCS was adopted in April 2016.[22] In May 2020, SCAG released the final 2020-2045 RTP/SCS called Connect SoCal.[23] Connect SoCal was adopted by SCAG's Regional Council on September 3, 2020.

Additionally, with respect to air quality planning, SCAG has prepared the Regional Comprehensive Plan (RCP) for the SCAG region, which includes Growth Management and Regional Mobility chapters, which form the basis for the land use and transportation components of the AQMP. These chapters are utilized in the preparation of air quality forecasts and the consistency analysis that is included in the AQMP.

Below is a list of key SCAQMD rules relevant to the Project:

SCAQMD Rule 402: Nuisance

Prohibits discharges of air contaminants that causes nuisance to the public.

SCAQMD Rule 403: Fugitive Dust

Regulates fugitive dust emissions from any commercial construction or demolition activity capable of generating fugitive dust emissions, including active operations, open storage piles, and disturbed surface areas, as well as track-out beyond an active operation.

SCAQMD Rule 1113: Architectural Coatings

Requires manufacturers, distributors, and end users of architectural and industrial maintenance coatings to reduce VOC emissions from the use of these coatings, primarily by placing limits on the VOC content of various coating categories.

SCAQMD Rule 1470: Requirements for Stationary Diesel-Fueled Internal Combustion and Other Compression Ignition Engines

Implements the ATCM for Stationary Compression Ignition Engines discussed in Section 2.3.4.3 for engines greater than 50 horsepower (hp). Sets forth requirements to reduce PM emissions and requires off-road engines to meet standards specified in the Off-Road Compression-Ignition Engine Standards. Establishes additional requirements for engines located in close proximity to existing schools.

Air Quality Management Plan Status

The AQMP and SIP processes generally occur concurrently: The SIP is required under the federal CAA to provide the framework for non-attainment areas to come into attainment of the NAAQS, and the AQMP is prepared by the SCAQMD, in part, to satisfy the requirement for a SIP. The AQMP traditionally evaluates all criteria pollutants; portions of the AQMP represent the required SIP elements, which are then transmitted to CARB for review, approval, and transmittal to the USEPA for inclusion in the overall California SIP.

The SCAQMD has been preparing AQMPs (and related SIP elements) since the 1989 AQMP. The list below presents the AQMPs prepared by the SCAQMD and a short summary of included SIP elements:

- 1989 AQMP - 1-hour ozone SIP elements.
- 1991 AQMP - 1-hour ozone SIP elements (attainment demonstration).
- 1994 AQMP - 1-hour ozone SIP elements designed to forestall a potential FIP and PM_{10} SIP elements describing Best Available Control Measures.
- 1997 AQMP - PM_{10} SIP elements (attainment demonstration) and updated 1-hour ozone SIP elements.
- 1999 AQMP - Revisions to 8-hour ozone SIP elements as part of the 1997 AQMP lawsuit settlement agreement.
- 2003 AQMP - Update of some PM_{10} and 1-hour ozone SIP elements.
- 2007 AQMP - New federal standards requiring 8-hour ozone and $PM_{2.5}$ SIP elements (including new attainment demonstrations and control measures).
- 2012 AQMP - New federal 24-hour $PM_{2.5}$ standard requiring 24-hour $PM_{2.5}$ SIP elements (attainment demonstration).
- 2016 AQMP - Update of ozone and $PM_{2.5}$ SIP elements (including new attainment demonstrations and control measures)
- 2022 AQMP – Is currently under development. A Draft was released in May 2022.[24]

As previously mentioned, Table 1-3 shows that Los Angeles County is currently designated as nonattainment for the federal and State O_3 standards; the State PM_{10} standards; the federal and State $PM_{2.5}$ standards; the State NO_2 standards.[25,26] In addition, the southern portion of Los Angeles County is designated as nonattainment for the federal lead standard. The current status of the AQMPs for these non-attainment pollutants are shown below:

- The 2007 AQMP provides attainment demonstrations for the annual $PM_{2.5}$ standard by April 5, 2015 and of the 8-hour O_3 standard by December 31, 2023; SCAQMD and CARB submitted the amendments to the USEPA. In 2009 and 2011, respectively, at the request of the USEPA, CARB provided clarifying revisions to the annual $PM_{2.5}$ and 8-hour O_3 SIP amendments. In 2011, the USEPA approved the control strategy, emission reduction commitment, and attainment demonstration of the annual $PM_{2.5}$ standard by April 5, 2015. In 2012, the USEPA approved the control strategy, emission reduction commitment, and attainment demonstration of the annual 8-hour ozone standard by June 15, 2024.[27]
- The 2012 AQMP provides attainment demonstrations for the 24-hour $PM_{2.5}$ standard by 2019 and the 1-hour O_3 standard by 2023.[28,29] In addition, it provides supplemental information for the approved 8-hour ozone SIP. On January 25, 2013, CARB approved the 2012 AQMP, which was subsequently submitted to the USEPA. On September 3, 2014, USEPA issued a final rule approving and promulgating the portions of the SIP revision related to the 1-hour and 1997 8-hour ozone standards.[30] In 2015, the SCAQMD prepared a Supplement to the 24-hour $PM_{2.5}$ SIP to address Subpart 4 provisions and requirements. On February 12, 2018, USEPA issued a final rule approving and promulgating portions of the SIP revision that addressed the requirements for the 2006 24-hour $PM_{2.5}$ standard.[31]
- The 2016 AQMP provides attainment demonstrations for the 8-hour O_3 standards; 1997 standard (0.08 parts per million [ppm]) by 2023 and 2008 standard (0.075 ppm) by

2.3.5.2 2020-2045 Regional Transportation Plan/Sustainable Community Strategies (Connect SoCal)

The 2020-2045 RTP/SCS, also known as Connect SoCal, was adopted by the Regional Council on September 3, 2020, and replaces the 2016-2040 RTP/SCS.[33] The RTP/SCS serves as a long-range regional transportation planning tool through the year 2045. The core vision of the 2020-2045 RTP/SCS is to build upon and expand land use and transportation strategies to increase mobility options, reduce vehicle miles traveled and achieve a more sustainable growth pattern.[34] The 2020-2045 RTP/SCS lists ten goals that were used to develop the plan and its guiding policies. These goals include the following:

1. Encourage regional economic prosperity and global competitiveness.
2. Improve mobility, accessibility, reliability, and travel safety for people and goods.
3. Enhance the preservation, security, and resilience of the regional transportation system.
4. Increase person and goods movement and travel choices within the transportation system.
5. Reduce greenhouse gas emissions and improve air quality.
6. Support healthy and equitable communities.
7. Adapt to changing climate and support an integrated regional development pattern and transportation network.
8. Leverage new transportation technologies and data-driven solutions that result in more efficient travel.
9. Encourage development of diverse housing types in areas that are supported by multiple transportation options.
10. Promote conservation of natural and agricultural lands and restoration of habitats.

2.3.5.3 Central City Community Plan

The Central City Community Plan addresses the need to improve transportation and circulation, with transportation decisions and funding choices made in the context of multiple-regional plans and policies. While the community plan does not include any directly applicable goals and objectives related to air quality, the community plan sets objectives and policies to address issues with congestion within the regional transportation network such as improving downtown's pedestrian environment to increase efficiency of the transportation and circulation systems. The community plan also addresses the importance of open space with objectives and policies such as encouraging the expansion of open space as well as the linkages between open space and transit, parking, historic resources, cultural facilities, and social service programs. These improvements in transportation, circulation, and open space would improve air quality conditions in the community.

2.3.5.4 Central City North Community Plan

The Central City North Community Plan includes programs using Transportation Demand Management strategies to encourage vehicular trip reduction that would inherently have an air quality nexus. These strategies include implementing Clean Air Program projects for ridesharing and transit ridership, using market incentives to achieve regional levels of trip reduction as mandated by state and federal Clean Air Acts, and encouraging regional agencies to consider further measures such as carpooling and commute assistance for work trips. These programs tie into the overall goals of the community plan to encourage alternative modes of transportation, maintain a safe, efficient freeway and street network, and to develop a public transit system that improves mobility, which in turn would improve air quality conditions in the community.

Adopted on December 15, 2000, the goals, objectives, and policies developed in the Central City North Community Plan strive to:

- Preserve and enhance the positive characteristics of existing residential neighborhoods while providing a variety of housing opportunities with compatible new housing;
- Improve the function, design, and economic vitality of the commercial corridors;
- Preserve and enhance the positive characteristics of existing uses which provide the foundation for community identity, such as scale, height, bulk, setbacks, and appearance;
- Maximize the development opportunities of future transit systems while minimizing any adverse impacts;
- Plan the remaining commercial and industrial development opportunity sites for needed job producing uses that will improve the economic and physical condition of the Central City North area.

2.3.5.5 Silver Lake-Echo Park-Elysian Valley Community Plan

The Silver Lake-Echo Park-Elysian Valley Community Plan was first published in 1984. Updates have been periodically made to the plan to capture emerging issues and community objectives until the last comprehensive update in 2004. In addition, an amendment to the plan was made in 2016 to incorporate the 2035 Mobility Plan. The Silver Lake-Echo Park-Elysian Valley Community Plan strives to:

- Preserve and enhance the positive characteristics of existing residential neighborhoods while providing a variety of housing opportunities with compatible new housing;
- Improve the function, design, and economic vitality of the commercial corridors;
- Preserve and enhance the positive characteristics of existing uses which provide the foundation for community identity, such as scale, height, bulk, setbacks, and appearance, and uses which together provide the foundation for community identity;

- Preserve and promote the unique arts and cultural community.

While the plan doesn't explicitly identify air quality improvement as an objective, it has many goals and objectives centered around transportation improvements that would inherently have an air quality nexus. For example, one of the goals for the plan is to develop a public transportation system that improves mobility with convenient alternatives to automobile travel. Similarly, a second goal of the plan is to encourage alternative modes of transportation over single occupant vehicles to reduce vehicle trips. The plan also highlights the need for a Transportation Demand Management Program and other improvements to enhance safety and mobility.

2.3.5.6 Proposed 2040 DTLA Community Plan

The City of Los Angeles is currently in the process of updating the Central City and Central City North Community Plans through the Downtown Los Angeles 2040 Draft Community Plan. Because it is unknown when the new community plan would be adopted and its EIR certified, the analysis in this section is based on the current applicable plans.

2.3.5.7 Metro's Green Construction Policy

Metro adopted a Green Construction Policy in August 2011 for Metro to use more sustainable construction equipment and vehicles, as well as implementing best practices to reduce harmful diesel emissions on all Metro construction projects performed on Metro properties and ROW. The Green Construction Policy requires the use of construction equipment with technologies such as hybrid drives and specific fuel economy standards, both of which are methods to reduce emissions during the construction period.

3. SIGNIFICANCE THRESHOLDS

The SCAQMD has established significance thresholds[35] to assess the impacts of project-related construction and operational emissions on regional and local ambient air quality. Table 3-1 shows the mass daily thresholds for construction and operation as adopted by the SCAQMD for criteria air pollutant emissions and TACs. The analysis summarized in this report estimates project-related construction and operational mass emissions and compares the emissions to these mass daily significance thresholds. This report also evaluates the localized ambient air quality impacts from onsite construction activities using SCAQMD's localized significance threshold (LST) methodology.[36] In accordance with SCAQMD guidance, if emission estimates for the proposed project activities are below the LST emission levels found in the SCAQMD's published LST mass "look-up" tables, the proposed construction activity would not significantly impact ambient air quality. If Project emissions are above the LST mass look up tables, then site-specific modeling would be required to determine the potential impact on ambient air quality. An evaluation of ambient air impacts for operational emissions is not needed because the Project does not include any land uses or operational emissions that would be expected to impact ambient air quality during operations, consistent with SCAQMD's methodology.[37] The primary emissions from operational activities that would require an evaluation of project operational emissions relative to ambient air quality significance thresholds include, but are not necessarily limited to, NO_X and CO combustion emissions from stationary sources such as flares and turbines, and/or significant on-site mobile sources such as earth-moving equipment.

The SCAQMD has established significance thresholds to assess health risk impacts of TACs from project-related emissions sources on nearby sensitive receptors including residents and other human populations. These significance thresholds include a maximum incremental cancer risk of 10 in a million, incremental chronic and acute hazards indices of 1.0, and cancer burden of 0.5.[38] The analysis summarized in this report evaluates the human health risk impacts from onsite construction activities to the significance thresholds SCAQMD has established. To evaluate the potential significance of the Project's emissions, this report evaluates whether the Project's estimated emissions would exceed the SCAQMD significance thresholds.

This report also evaluates the significance of the Project's criteria air pollutant emissions by reference to the following questions from Section III, Air Quality, of Appendix G of the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA) Guidelines,[39] while taking into account the SCAQMD significance thresholds described above:

Threshold 1. Would the project conflict with or obstruct implementation of the applicable air quality plan?

Threshold 2. Would the project result in a cumulatively considerable net increase of any criteria pollutant for which the project region is non-attainment under an applicable federal or state ambient air quality standard?

Threshold 3. Would the project expose sensitive receptors to substantial pollutant concentrations?

Threshold 4. Would the project result in other emissions (such as those leading to odors) adversely affecting a substantial number of people?

An evaluation of the Project based on the significance thresholds discussed above is provided in subsequent sections.

4. CRITERIA POLLUTANT EMISSION INVENTORIES

This section describes the methodology that Ramboll US Consulting, Inc. (Ramboll) used to develop the criteria pollutant emission inventories associated with the Project, which include construction emissions and operational emissions.

4.1 Scenarios Evaluated

4.1.1 Construction Scenarios Evaluated

Ramboll evaluated criteria pollutant emissions associated with the construction of the Project. As described in the Project Description in Section 1.1, the Project would include the construction of stations, a junction, and towers for an aerial gondola system. During construction, some staging and assembly of Project materials and equipment could occur at a laydown area within the Mesa Lot at Dodger Stadium. Construction of the Project components is phased, and construction activities would occur at multiple stations, junction, and towers at the same time within the construction period.

Construction activities would take place as early as 2024 through 2026 and are anticipated to occur predominantly on weekdays (i.e., Monday through Friday) from approximately 7am to 5pm.

4.1.2 Operational Scenarios Evaluated

Ramboll evaluated the criteria pollutant emissions associated with the operation of the Project. The availability and use of the gondola system would decrease the number of people traveling to Dodger Stadium (and surrounding areas) in passenger vehicles, and increase the number of people using public transit. This shift in transportation mode would reduce total VMT and vehicle idling time in and around Dodger Stadium associated with passenger vehicles. In addition to evaluating emissions associated with VMT, this assessment evaluated emissions from the following source categories: backup power supply and area sources (e.g., landscaping-related fuel combustion sources, consumer products, and architectural coatings).

Furthermore, Ramboll evaluated the emissions for the following:

1. Baseline/Existing – calculated existing on-road mobile emission conditions from passenger vehicles traveling to and around Dodger Stadium in year 2019
2. Proposed Project – calculated projected emissions in year 2026, after completion of all construction activity
3. Horizon Year Projection – calculated projected emissions in year 2042

4.2 Methodology Resources

4.2.1 CalEEMod®

Ramboll utilized emissions factors and methodology from CalEEMod® version 2020.4.0[40] to quantify the criteria air pollutant emissions in the inventories presented in this report for the proposed Project. CalEEMod® provides methodology to calculate both construction emissions and operational emissions from a land use development project. Specifically, the model aids the user in the following calculations:

[40] SCAQMD. California Emissions Estimator Model®. Available at: http://www.aqmd.gov/caleemod/download-model. Accessed: April 2022.

- Short-term construction emissions associated with site preparation, demolition, grading, utility installation, building, coating, and paving from off-road construction equipment, and on-road mobile equipment associated with workers, vendors, and hauling.
- Operational emissions associated with buildout, such as on-road mobile vehicle traffic generated by the Project, off-road emissions from landscaping equipment, electricity usage in the buildings, water usage by the land uses, and solid waste disposal by the land uses.

CalEEMod® is a statewide program designed to calculate both criteria air pollutant and GHG emissions from development projects in California. This model was developed by SCAQMD in coordination with other California air districts. CalEEMod® is recommended by SCAQMD and utilized by numerous lead agencies to quantify the emissions associated with development projects undergoing environmental review. CalEEMod® utilizes well-established and SCAQMD-accepted models for emission estimates combined with documented modeling assumptions that can be used if site-specific information is not available. CalEEMod® incorporates and relies upon models and emissions estimates that are based on published and well-established sources such as the USEPA AP-42 emission factors,[41] CARB's on-road and off-road mobile source emission factor models (EMFAC and OFFROAD, respectively), and studies commissioned by California agencies such as the CEC and CalRecycle. Regional data (e.g., emission factors, trip lengths, meteorology, source inventory, etc.) have been provided by the various California air districts to account for local requirements and conditions. The model is an accepted and comprehensive tool for quantifying air quality and GHG impacts from land use projects throughout California and is recommended by the SCAQMD as the technical expert agency on air quality matters. Accordingly, utilizing CalEEMod® provides a consistent, transparent, and reasonable methodology for estimating the Project's construction and operational air quality emissions for purposes of this analysis.

4.2.2 OFFROAD2021

OFFROAD[42] is an emission factor model used to calculate emission rates from off-road mobile sources (e.g., construction equipment). Where feasible, emission factors derived from OFFROAD2021[43] were used to calculate emissions from the off-road equipment associated with Project construction. When OFFROAD2021 emission factors were unavailable, CalEEMod® emission factors derived from OFFROAD2011 were used to calculate emissions.

4.2.3 EMFAC2021

EMFAC is an emission factor model used to calculate emissions rates from on-road vehicles (e.g., passenger vehicles). On April 30, 2021, CARB released EMFAC2021 (v1.0.1), the newest version of the modeling software for modeling traffic emissions in California.[44] This version of the model includes the latest data on California's car and truck fleets and travel activity. The model also reflects the emissions benefits of CARB's recent rule makings, including the Advanced Clean Trucks and the Heavy-Duty Omnibus regulations. EMFAC2021 emission factors were used to estimate emissions from on-road vehicles associated with Project construction and operation.

4.2.4 AP-42

AP-42, Compilation of Air Pollutant Emission Factors, is USEPA's published resource for source-specific emission factors.[45] The Fifth Edition of AP-42 was published in January 1995. Updates have been made to the chapters in Volume 1, Stationary Point and Area Sources as data has become available. AP-42 methodology, consistent with CalEEMod® methodology, was used to estimate fugitive dust emissions for the following activities: grading, earth bulldozing, demolition, and truck loading.

4.3 Construction Emissions

This section describes the estimation of emissions from construction activities at the Project component sites. The proposed plan for the Project anticipates construction to occur as early as 2024 to 2026. The major construction phases included in this analysis are:

- Utilities: involves the potential relocation of the water, sanitary sewer, storm, natural gas, electrical transmission and distribution, and communications lines.
- Foundations, Columns & Tower Base: involves demolition, hauling of material, augering piles, laying rebar, and pouring of concrete.
- Structural Steel & Gondola Equipment Erection: involves delivery of steel and erecting the steel structure.
- Asphalt & Re-Striping: involves paving.
- Vertical Circulation/Hardscape & Landscape/Interior Work: involves introduction of vertical circulation elements (i.e. elevators, escalators, stairs) and architectural coating.
- Rope Pulling: involves delivery of ropes on large spools and pulling the rope between Project components.

The emissions from these phases are largely attributable to fuel use from off-road construction equipment and on-road vehicle trips, fugitive dust emissions from earth working activities, and VOC emissions from the application of architectural coatings and installation of asphalt pavement. A construction schedule for the Project is provided in Table 4-1.

4.3.1 Emissions from Construction Off-Road Equipment

This section describes the methodology used to estimate exhaust emissions from off-road equipment activities at the Project component sites. Off-road equipment-related exhaust emissions were estimated using Project-specific equipment lists and CalEEMod® defaults for equipment horsepower and load factors. Two equipment lists were developed for the Project, one specific to the construction activity at the stations, junction, and laydown area, and one specific to the construction activity at the towers. These lists are presented in Tables 4-2a and 4-2b. The emissions calculations assumed that the off-road equipment would operate up to 9 hours a day, five days a week for durations based on Project-specific estimates (see Table 4-3).

Where feasible, the off-road equipment emission factors used in this analysis were derived from OFFROAD2021. When OFFROAD2021 emission factors were unavailable, CalEEMod® emission factors derived from OFFROAD2011 were used to calculate emissions. Since the majority of off-road equipment used for construction projects is diesel-fueled, CalEEMod® makes the simplifying assumption that all off-road equipment operates on diesel fuel. These emission factors include running exhaust. Further, since the equipment is assumed to be diesel, there are no starting emissions, as these are de minimis for diesel-fueled equipment. Exhaust emissions were calculated using CalEEMod® methodology, which uses the equation presented below.[46]

$$\text{Emissions}_{\text{Diesel}} = \sum_{i} \left(\text{EF}_i \times \text{Pop}_i \times \text{AvgHP}_i \times \text{Load}_i \times \text{Activity}_i \right)$$

Where:

EF = Emission factor in grams per horsepower-hour (g/bhp-hr) as processed from OFFROAD2021 or OFFROAD2011

Pop = Population, or the number of pieces of equipment

AvgHp = Maximum rated average horsepower

Load = Load factor

Activity = Hours of operation

i = equipment type

Exhaust emissions from off-road equipment are presented in Appendix A. Off-road equipment emission factors are presented in Appendix B. Fugitive dust emissions associated with off-road equipment activity are discussed in Section 4.3.5.

4.3.2 Emissions from On-Road Construction Trips

Construction generates emissions from on-road vehicle trips associated with worker commuting, shuttles for transporting workers to their respective worksites,[47] vendor deliveries, and material hauling. These emissions are based on the number of trips and VMT along with emission factors from EMFAC2021.

4.3.2.1 Trip Rates

Trip rates are one factor used to calculate emissions from on-road construction trips. Ramboll estimated on-road emissions using Project-specific trip rates as shown in Table 4-4.

4.3.2.2 Trip Lengths

Total VMT by on-road source is estimated as a product of trip rates and the average trip length. The default CalEEMod® trip length of 14.7 miles for home-work trips was used to represent trips taken by construction workers commuting to the Project component sites.

[46] SCAQMD. California Emissions Estimator Model® User's Guide, Appendix A. Available at: http://www.aqmd.gov/caleemod/user's-guide. Accessed: April 2022.

[47] There would be one shuttle per hour from Dodger Stadium to each of the Project component sites that would transport construction workers.

The vendor trip length and haul truck trip length were based on the CalEEMod® default trip lengths of 6.9 miles and 20 miles, respectively. The vendor trip length was assumed for trips associated with the laydown area at the Mesa Lot. The CalEEMod® default trip lengths are derived from regional average trip information and represent a reasonable estimate for purposes of calculating emissions. A trip length of 1.7 miles for worker shuttles was derived from the Google Maps default route from LAUS to Dodger Stadium. In the absence of Project-specific information, the default trip lengths are reasonable to apply as they are based on the region and an urban setting. Trip lengths and total VMT are presented in Table 4-4.

4.3.2.3 Vehicle Fleet Mix

Vehicle fleet mix is another parameter used to estimate mobile source emissions from the Project. The fleet mix for worker, vendor, and hauling vehicles was based on the CalEEMod® default fleet mix for construction activities because the construction vehicle types for the Project are expected to be light-duty vehicles for workers (mix of light-duty autos and light-duty trucks), medium-heavy and heavy-heavy duty trucks for vendors, and heavy-heavy duty trucks for hauling. The vehicle class assumed for the worker shuttles was based on Project-specific information.

4.3.2.4 Mobile Source Emission Factors

Emission factors were obtained from EMFAC2021 for Los Angeles County (South Coast) and are presented in Appendix B. The emission factors used to estimate mobile emissions from running exhaust, running loss, tire wear, and brake wear are on a "per mile" basis and thus the associated emissions were calculated by multiplying these factors by the estimated VMT for each vehicle type listed in Table 4-4. The emission factors for starting exhaust, hot soak, diurnal, and resting loss are on a "per trip" basis and thus the associated emissions were calculated by multiplying these factors by the estimated number of trips for each vehicle type listed in Table 4-4. The emission factors used to estimate emissions from shuttle, vendor, and truck idling are on a "per minute of idling" basis and thus the emissions were calculated by multiplying these factors by the estimated idle duration of 5 minutes per one-way trip (5 minutes at entry and 5 minutes at exit) for each trip. Please note that the trip counts shown in Table 4-4 are round trips; hence these trip counts were multiplied by two to estimate the number of one-way trips. Emissions from on-road vehicles are presented in Appendix A.

Entrained road dust emissions associated with on-road vehicles are discussed in Section 4.3.3.

4.3.3 Fugitive Dust

Fugitive dust contributes to PM_{10} and $PM_{2.5}$ emissions and is generated by the various construction activities occurring at the Project component sites. The following subsections describe the methodology used to calculate fugitive dust emissions from Project construction activities.

4.3.3.1 Entrained Road Dust

Entrained road dust is generated by vehicle travel on paved and unpaved roads. In the Project area, roads are 100 percent paved.

Emission factors for entrained road dust are presented in Appendix B and are on a "per mile" basis. Consistent with the CalEEMod® methodology, entrained road dust emission factors are based on the equations presented in the Paved Roads and Unpaved Roads chapters of USEPA's AP-42 and are then multiplied by the total VMT for Project-related trips.[48] Emissions from entrained road dust are presented in Appendix A.

4.3.3.2 Bulldozing, Grading, Demolition, and Material Loading

Fugitive dust emissions from bulldozing equipment (i.e., rubber-tired dozers), grading equipment (i.e., graders, rubber-tired dozers, and scrapers), and demolition activity occur during the Foundations phase at each Project component construction site. In addition, material loading activities would generate fugitive dust emissions during the Foundations (Hauling) and Utilities phases at each Project component construction site. Emissions from these sources were estimated using CalEEMod® methodology and assumptions and are presented in Appendix A.

4.3.4 Emissions from Architectural Coating

VOC off-gassing emissions result from evaporation of solvents contained in surface coatings. CalEEMod® methodology was used to estimate VOC evaporative emissions from application of surface coatings using the following equation:

$$E_{AC} = EF_{AC} \times F \times A_{paint}$$

Where:

E_{AC} = emissions (pound [lb] VOC)

EF_{AC} = emission factor (lb/square foot [sqft])

A_{paint} = building surface area (sqft). The total surface for painting was provided as Project specific information.

F = fraction of surface area. The default values based on SCAQMD methods used in their coating rules are 75% for the exterior surface and 25% for the interior.

The emission factor (EF) is based on the VOC content of the surface coatings and is calculated using the equation below:

$$EF_{AC} = C_{VOC}/454(g/lb) \times 3.785(L/gal)/180*sqft)$$

Where:

EF_{AC} = emission factor (lb/sqft)

C_{VOC} = VOC content (gram per liter [g/L]).

The emission factors for coating categories were determined by the SCAQMD Rule 1113 VOC limits. These emission factors assume the coatings off-gas the maximum allowable VOC content for non-residential exterior coatings as allowed by this rule giving the most conservative estimate for the overall emissions. The emissions associated with architectural coating for construction are presented in Appendix A.

4.3.5 Emissions from Paving

CalEEMod® methodology was used to estimate the VOC off-gassing emissions associated with asphalt paving using the following equation:

$$E_{AP} = EF_{AP} \times A_{paving}$$

[48] USEPA. 2011. AP-42: Compilation of Air Emissions Factors. Chapter 13.2.1: Paved Roads. January. Available at: https://www3.epa.gov/ttnchie1/ap42/ch13/final/c13s0201.pdf. Accessed: April 2022.

Where:

E_{AP} = emissions (lb)

EF_{AP} = emission factor (lb/acre). The CalEEMod® default emission factor is 2.62 lb/acre.

A_{paving} = area of paving (acre)

The emissions associated with paving are presented in Appendix A.

4.4 Annual Operational Emissions

Operational emissions are emissions that would occur after build-out of the Project. This analysis evaluates the emissions of VOC, NO_x, CO, SO_2, PM_{10}, and $PM_{2.5}$ from area sources (e.g., landscaping-related fuel combustion sources, consumer products, and architectural coatings), energy use, and mobile sources.

4.4.1 Area Sources

Area sources are those emissions that are generally too small to be uniquely identified as point sources and are thus generally aggregated as a group. CalEEMod® estimates emissions for the following sources, which are included under the category of "area" sources: landscaping equipment (e.g., lawn mowers), consumer products, and architectural coatings.

Based on the amount of landscaping expected around the Project and the factors in CalEEMod®, the criteria air pollutant emissions from landscaping are expected to be negligible (< 1 lb/day).

4.4.1.1 Architectural Coatings

VOC off-gassing emissions result from evaporation of solvents contained in surface coatings such as paints and primers. The operational emissions methodology for architecture coating is the same as it is for construction (see Section 4.3.4). However, emissions are estimated for areas that are repainted on an annual basis. For this estimate, all painted surface area is assumed to be repainted at a rate of 10 percent of area per year, which is the default rate in CalEEMod®. This is based on assumptions used by SCAQMD for non-residential/residential buildings. Criteria air pollutant emissions associated with architectural coating for Project operations are presented in Appendix A.

4.4.1.2 Consumer Products

VOC emissions result from the use of certain products by household and institutional consumers, and can include such products as degreasers, fertilizers/pesticides, cleaning compounds, polishes, floor finishes, disinfectants, and sanitizers. VOC emissions are calculated using CalEEMod® default VOC emission factor for the SCAQMD region (1.98×10^{-5} lb/sqft/day). Criteria air pollutant emissions associated with consumer product usage during Project operations are presented in Appendix A.

4.4.2 Mobile Source Emissions

Current (2019) vehicular emissions associated with games and special events at Dodger Stadium result from passengers in vehicles traveling to the game along with employees (i.e., total VMT). By transitioning the passengers of these vehicles to the gondola, total VMT would be reduced along with corresponding reductions in emissions.

Criteria air pollutant emissions associated with total VMT were calculated using emission factors from EMFAC2021 and annual VMT as provided by Fehr & Peers. A light duty and medium duty fleet mix was assumed, as these vehicle categories are expected to be representative of people traveling to and from Dodger Stadium. Emission factors were obtained from EMFAC2021 for Los Angeles County (South Coast) and are presented in Appendix B. Emissions associated with mobiles sources are shown in Appendix A.

4.4.3 Backup Power Supply

The Project would feature backup power supplies to allow for unloading of the aerial gondola system in the event of a power grid failure. The Project would use battery storage in lieu of diesel generators, which are normally tested on a regular basis. Criteria air pollutant emissions reductions based on this Project commitment were calculated using anticipated annual maintenance hours of operation (assumed to be six hours per year) and emission factors obtained from SCAQMD guidance. The criteria air pollutant emissions reductions associated with backup emergency generators are presented in Appendix A.

5. HEALTH RISK ASSESSMENT

This HRA evaluates the estimated cancer risk, and non-cancer chronic hazard index (HIC) associated with construction of the Project. Acute non-cancer health effects were not estimated as the only source of chemicals with acute toxicity are TOG emissions related to Project traffic, which are not anticipated to be significant. To meet these objectives, this HRA was conducted consistent with Air Toxics Hot Spots Program Risk Assessment Guidelines developed by the the California Office of Environmental Health Hazard Assessment (OEHHA).[49]

5.1 Estimated Air Concentrations

To evaluate the health risks and concentration of air toxics in the surrounding community, SCAQMD recommends estimating concentrations using air pollution dispersion modeling. The methodologies used to evaluate emissions for the Project are based on the most recent SCAQMD Health Risk Assessment Guidelines and the most recent Air Toxics Hot Spots Program Risk Assessment Guidelines from OEHHA and updated in 2015.[50,51] The 2015 OEHHA guidelines are based on years of scientific studies evaluating health risks and include a number of conservative assumptions to be protective of human health and to estimate potentially higher risks and sensitivity factors for infants, children, and other sensitive receptors.

Air concentrations of TACs from Project emissions are estimated using the American Meteorological Society/Environmental Protection Agency regulatory air dispersion model (AERMOD) at off-site receptors. Details on the inputs and methodology used in the dispersion modeling are discussed further in the sections below.

5.1.1 Toxic Air Contaminant Emissions

Ramboll evaluated excess lifetime cancer risk and HIC for off-site sensitive receptors from Project construction emissions. In particular, the lifetime cancer risk and HIC analysis in the construction HRA assesses impacts from DPM emissions from off-road diesel construction equipment during the entire duration of construction. DPM emissions are assumed to be equal to exhaust PM_{10} from off-road construction equipment. Diesel exhaust, a complex mixture that includes hundreds of individual constituents, is identified by the State of California as a known carcinogen.[52,53] Under California regulatory guidelines, DPM is used as a surrogate measure of exposure for the mixture of chemicals that make up diesel exhaust as a whole. The California Environmental Protection Agency (CalEPA) and other proponents of using the surrogate approach to quantifying excess lifetime cancer risks associated with the diesel mixture indicate that this method is preferable to use of a component-based approach because it provides a protective layer to estimating health risks. component-based approach involves estimating risks for each of the individual components of a mixture. Furthermore, CalEPA has concluded that "potential cancer risk from inhalation exposure to whole diesel exhaust will exceed the multi-pathway cancer risk from the speciated components."[54] This analysis was based on the surrogate approach, as recommended by CalEPA. No acute non-cancer toxicity has been identified for DPM.[55] Thus, an acute HI from Project construction was not estimated.

Emissions were estimated consistent with the methodologies outlined in Section 4.3.1.

5.1.2 Air Dispersion Modeling Methodology

Ramboll used the most recent version of AERMOD (Version 21112)[56] to estimate ambient air concentrations and evaluate the health risks of DPM at off-site receptors.[57] For each receptor location, the model generates air concentrations (or air dispersion factors if unit emissions [i.e., 1 g/s] were modeled) that result from emissions from multiple sources.

Air dispersion models such as AERMOD require a variety of inputs such as source parameters, meteorological data, topography information, and receptor parameters. When site-specific information was unknown, default parameter sets that are designed to produce conservative (i.e., overestimates of) air concentrations were used.

5.1.2.1 AERMOD

AERMOD has been approved for use by USEPA, CARB, and SCAQMD, and incorporates multiple variables in its algorithms including:

- Meteorological data representative of surface and upper air conditions;
- Local terrain data to account for elevation changes; and
- Physical specification of emission sources including information such as:
  - Location;
  - Release height; and
  - Source dimensions.

Dispersion model averaging times are specified based on the averaging times of ambient air quality standards and the air quality significance thresholds established by the appropriate regulatory agencies. A five-year averaging time for DPM is modeled for calculating long-term health risks. Dispersion modeling was performed using the annual average DPM emissions by phase and a five-year meteorological data set to evaluate long-term impacts, thereby ensuring that all likely meteorological conditions are considered.

The following other options in AERMOD were selected for use in this analysis. The regulatory default option was selected based the SCAQMD modeling recommendations,[58] which established the settings for variables such as urban modeling dispersion option, receptor heights, and off-site receptor grid spacing. The air dispersion model was run using a unit emission factor approach. The model output based on a unit emission factor approach was incorporated into a post-processing step with the calculated emission rates to estimate the air concentrations at each receptor.

5.1.2.2 Source Characterization

Sources that can be reasonably represented as emitting at a uniform rate from a three-dimensional space, such as exhaust from a group of construction vehicles, are modeled as volume sources. Volume sources covering the planned construction areas were used to represent DPM exhaust emissions from the off-road equipment for the construction modeling. Figure 1 shows the modeled construction areas for the Project. Consistent with the SCAQMD Localized Significance Threshold Methodology, 5 meters-by-5 meters volume sources[59] are used to characterize construction off-road equipment with a release height of 5 meters, an initial lateral dimension of 2.3 (length of side/2.15), and an initial vertical dimension of 1.4 m.

5.1.2.3 Meteorology

SCAQMD provides AERMOD model-ready meteorological data sets for use in air quality and risk impact analyses in the SCAB. SCAQMD's Central LA meteorological data set was selected based on that station's close geographic proximity to the Project alignment. The SCAQMD meteorological data set for January 1, 2010 to December 31, 2011 and January 1, 2014 to December 31, 2016 was used for the analysis.[60] Figure 2 depicts the wind rose for these data.

5.1.2.4 Land Use

The land uses surrounding the Project alignment are primarily a mix of developed residential and commercial areas. AERMOD offers the option of using either rural or urban dispersion characteristics. Selection of rural or urban dispersion characteristics depends on the predominant land use within a three-kilometer radius of the site. SCAQMD recommends that the urban land use option be chosen for all sources in its jurisdiction. The population of Los Angeles County where the Project is located was used to model urban effects.[61]

Data specifying terrain elevations of sources and receptors are imported into the model. Elevations are based on National Elevation Datasets (NEDs) and consist of an array of regularly spaced points on a horizontal plane for which an elevation is specified. NEDs used in this analysis were obtained from the United States Geologic Survey (USGS) and are spaced at 10 meters by 10 meters.[62]

5.1.2.5 Emission Rates

Emissions were modeled using the χ/Q ("chi over q") method, such that each source group has a unit emission rate (i.e., 1 gram per second [g/s]), and the model estimates dispersion factors (with units of [µg/m^3]/[g/s]). Actual emissions were multiplied by the dispersion factors to obtain concentrations. Emitting activities were modeled to reflect the actual hours of construction, between 7am and 5pm. While the Project may request additional hours of operation for specific and limited construction activities, most activity is expected to occur within this period.

For annual average ambient air concentrations, the estimated annual average dispersion factors are multiplied by the annual average emission rates. The emission rates will vary day to day, with some days having no emissions. For simplicity, the model will assume a constant emission rate during the entire year for construction. For construction, the equipment is expected to operate at most 9 hours per day, but these 9 hours can occur anytime in the 10-hour window from 7am to 5pm.[63] For purposes of this analysis, construction is assumed to occur on weekdays. Thus, weekend meteorology is excluded in the dispersion model to match with the assumed construction schedule.

5.1.2.6 Receptors

In order to evaluate health impacts to off-site receptors, nearby sensitive receptor populations were identified. SCAQMD identifies the following as sensitive receptors: long-term health care facilities, rehabilitation centers, convalescent centers, retirement homes, residences, schools, playgrounds, daycare centers, and athletic facilities.[64] The following receptors are included in the AERMOD modeling per SCAQMD guidance:[65]

- Grid 50 m x 50 m to ¼-mile from the Project alignment;
- 25-m spacing receptors at the sensitive receptor boundary closest to the construction area; and
- Discrete sensitive receptors.

Locations of sensitive receptors were identified by the Project proponent and include future residential developments and existing residences, schools, daycare centers, and senior centers. Boundary sensitive receptors adjacent to the construction areas were also included to ensure the maximum modeled impacts were captured. The locations of the analyzed [63] Annual average construction emissions were calculated by taking the total mass of emissions per construction source group and dividing by 10 hours per day, 5 days per week, and 52 weeks per year. The variable emission factor for AERMOD modeling (EMISFACT) includes hours between 7am and 5pm, with a multiplier of 1 for each hour of meteorology included in the model. Thus, the total EMISFACT sum equals 10 hours per day, which matches the construction emissions averaged over 10 hours per day.

receptors are illustrated in Figure 3 and Figure 4. Receptor heights were assumed to be ground-level.[66]

5.2 Risk Characterization Methods

The HRA was conducted in accordance with SCAQMD risk assessment guidelines.[67] These guidelines are based on OEHHA's 2015 Air Toxics Hot Spots Program Risk Assessment Guidelines.[68] The 2015 OEHHA Guidelines include various updates that are protective of human health, particularly related to estimating potential risks in infants, children, and other sensitive receptors. Toxicity factors for DPM were obtained from Attachment N of the SCAQMD's Risk Assessment Procedures for Rules 1401, 1401.1 and 212.[69] DPM modeled concentrations were used to calculate cancer risk and HIC at each relevant receptor. The acute hazard index was not quantified since no inhalation Reference Exposure Level (REL) has been determined by OEHHA for DPM. Details of this methodology are discussed below.

5.3 Exposure Assessment

Potentially Exposed Populations: This analysis evaluates off-site sensitive receptors based on OEHHA 2015 Hot Spots Guidelines. Based on the sensitive receptor search for the Project, the following off-site sensitive receptors were identified:

- Residents
- Daycare children
- School children
- Senior centers

To calculate health impacts for comparison to SCAQMD thresholds, this report assesses risk to the above sensitive receptors. The exposure rate for the residential scenario is more conservative than those for other sensitive receptor types (i.e., school child, daycare child, and patients) as residents have the highest exposure frequency, exposure time, and exposure duration, thus for this analysis all receptors were evaluated using residential exposure assumptions. Consistent with the OEHHA guidelines, off-site residents were evaluated for a health risk analysis of a fetus in its third trimester at the beginning of Project construction and exposed to all construction emissions from 2024-2026.

Exposure Assumptions: The exposure parameters used to estimate excess lifetime cancer risks for exposed populations were obtained using risk assessment guidelines from OEHHA and SCAQMD.[70,71] Exposure assumptions are shown in Table 5-1.

Calculation of Intake: The dose estimated for each exposure pathway is a function of the concentration of a chemical and the intake of that chemical. The intake factor for inhalation, IF_{inh}, can be calculated as follows:

$$IF_{inh} = \frac{DBR * FAH * EF * ED * CF}{AT}$$

Where:

IF_{inh}	=	Intake Factor for Inhalation (m^3/kg-day)
DBR	=	Daily Breathing Rate (L/kg-day)
FAH	=	Frequency of time at Home (unitless)
EF	=	Exposure Frequency (days/year)
ED	=	Exposure Duration (years)
CF	=	Conversion Factor, 0.001 (m^3/L)
AT	=	Averaging Time (days)

The chemical intake or dose is estimated by multiplying the inhalation intake factor, IF_{inh}, by the chemical concentration in air, C_i. When coupled with the chemical concentration, this calculation is mathematically equivalent to the dose algorithm given in the current OEHHA Hot Spots guidance.[72]

5.3.1 Age Sensitivity Factors

As a conservative and health-protective measure, the estimated excess lifetime cancer risks for a resident will be adjusted using age sensitivity factors (ASFs) that account for an "anticipated special sensitivity to carcinogens" of infants and children as recommended in the OEHHA 2009 Technical Support Document and OEHHA 2015 Air Toxics Hot Spots Program Risk Assessment Guidelines.[73,74] Cancer risk estimates were weighted by a factor of 10 for exposures that occur from the third trimester of pregnancy to two years of age and by a factor of three for exposures that occur from two years through 15 years of age, as shown in Table 5-2. No weighting factor (i.e., an ASF of one, which is equivalent to no adjustment) is applied to ages 16 and older.

5.3.2 Toxicity Assessment

The toxicity assessment characterizes the relationship between the magnitude of exposure and the nature and magnitude of adverse health effects that may result from such exposure. For purposes of calculating exposure criteria to be used in risk assessments, adverse health effects are classified into two broad categories – cancer and non-cancer endpoints. Toxicity values that are used to estimate the likelihood of adverse effects occurring in humans at different exposure levels are identified as part of the toxicity assessment component of a risk assessment.

Ramboll utilized the CalEPA-approved inhalation cancer potency factor for DPM to evaluate DPM emitted from construction sources.[75] The chronic toxicity values for DPM are summarized in Table 5-3.

5.3.3 Risk Characterization

5.3.3.1 Estimation of Cancer Risks

Excess lifetime cancer risks are estimated as the upper-bound incremental probability that an individual will develop cancer over a lifetime as a direct result of exposure to potential carcinogens. The estimated risk is expressed as a unitless probability. The cancer risk attributed to a chemical is calculated by multiplying the chemical intake or dose at the human exchange boundaries (e.g., lungs) by the chemical-specific cancer potency factor (CPF).

The equation used to calculate the potential excess lifetime cancer risk for the inhalation pathway is as follows:

$$Riskinh = Ci \; x \; CF \; x \; IFinh \; x \; CPFi \; x \; ASF$$

Where:

Riskinh	=	Cancer risk; the incremental probability of an individual developing cancer as a result of inhalation exposure to a particular potential carcinogen (unitless)
Ci	=	Annual average air concentration for chemical (µg/m^3)
CF	=	Conversion factor (mg/µg)
IFinh	=	Intake factor for inhalation (m^3/kg-day)
CPFi	=	Cancer potency factor for chemical (mg chemical/kg body weight-day)$^{-1}$
ASF	=	Age sensitivity factor (unitless)

5.3.3.2 Estimation of Chronic Non-Cancer Hazard Indices

The potential for exposure to result in adverse chronic non-cancer effects is evaluated by comparing the estimated annual average air concentration (which is equivalent to the average daily air concentration) to the non-cancer chronic reference exposure level (cREL) for each chemical. When calculated for a single chemical, the comparison yields a ratio termed a hazard quotient (HQ). To evaluate the potential for adverse chronic non-cancer health effects from simultaneous exposure to multiple chemicals, the HQs for all chemicals are summed, yielding a HI:

$$HQi = Ci \; / \; cREL$$

$$HI = \sum HQ$$

Where:

HI	=	Hazard index
HQi	=	Chronic hazard quotient for chemical i
Ci	=	Annual average concentration of chemical i (µg/m^3)
cRELi	=	Chronic noncancer reference exposure level for chemical i (µg/m^3)

5.3.3.3 Estimation of Cancer Burden

As defined in the SCAQMD Rule 1401 risk assessment guidelines, "the cancer burden is the estimated increase in the occurrence of cancer cases in a population as a result of exposures to TAC emissions from the equipment over a 70-year exposure duration." A cancer burden evaluation is only required by SCAQMD if the maximum residential cancer risk over the 30-year exposure is greater than one in a million. The estimate of cancer burden is included in this HRA following the steps below:

1. The area of impact is first determined based on the results of the residential cancer analysis, assuming 30-year exposure.
2. All census receptors within the 1 in a million-risk contour are identified. The cancer burden is then estimated using the lifetime 70-year exposure duration.
3. Cancer burden is then calculated for each census tract using the 2020 census population multiplied by the estimated 70-year residential cancer risk.

6. ANALYSIS OF ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACTS

6.1 SCAQMD Significance Thresholds

6.1.1 Mass Daily Thresholds

As described in Section 3.1, this report uses SCAQMD mass daily thresholds to assess the impacts of Project-related construction and operational emissions on air quality in the region. The estimated maximum mass daily emissions due to construction of the Project are presented in Table ES-1. The estimated maximum mass daily emissions for construction of the Project are less than the SCAQMD mass daily significance thresholds for all criteria pollutants.

The estimated maximum mass daily emissions due to Project operations are presented in Table ES-5. In this table, per SCAQMD methodology, the Project emissions are determined by subtracting the existing/baseline emissions (2019) from the build-out year (2026) and horizon year (2042). The Project emissions are compared against SCAQMD mass daily significance thresholds for operations. The resulting estimated maximum mass daily emissions for Project operations are less than the SCAQMD mass daily significance thresholds for all criteria pollutants. In fact, as shown in Table ES-5, the Project will result in a net reduction in criteria pollutant emissions in both 2026 (Build Out) and 2042 (Horizon Year).

6.1.2 Localized Significance Thresholds

As discussed in Section 3.1, this report uses SCAQMD's LST methodology to evaluate localized ambient air quality impacts from onsite construction activities. To assess potential Project emissions more accurately, a LST analysis was conducted by evaluating the emissions at each construction site.

As shown in Table ES-2, estimated maximum onsite daily emissions are below the applicable SCAQMD mass-rate LSTs for NO_X, CO, PM_{10}, and $PM_{2.5}$ at all onsite locations when evaluated by individual localized activity area. Since this screening analysis shows that construction emissions are below the mass-rate LSTs, further air dispersion modeling was not required. Furthermore, onsite NOx emissions are below an estimated threshold for the federal 1-hour NO_2 standard.[76]

6.1.3 Health Risk Thresholds

As discussed in Section 3.1, the risk characterization results of this HRA were compared against SCAQMD significance thresholds of 10 in a million for the MICR and 1.0 for HIC. Table ES-3 presents the results for the maximum MICR and HIC for all modeled receptors, which are below their respective SCAQMD thresholds.

Per SCAQMD methodology, the population cancer burden was evaluated for areas where the Project's MICR exceeded one in a million. Potential population exposure was analyzed within the modeled zone of impact (ZOI), which was defined by the residential cancer risk isopleth of 1 in a million. All census block receptors within in the ZOI were extracted from CARB's Hotspots Analysis and Reporting Program (HARP). The maximum residential cancer risk based on 70-year exposure was conservatively multiplied by the total population within the [76] Because the federal 1-hour NO_2 standard was introduced after the SCAQMD LSTs were published, a screening threshold was derived by scaling the SCAQMD NO_X LSTs by the ratio of the 1-hour federal standard (188 µg/m^3) to the 1-hour CAAQS (339 µg/m^3) (on which the SCAQMD NO_X LST is based). Since the federal threshold is based on the 98th percentile and on a 3-year average, this approach is conservative.

ZOI. Table ES-4 presents the calculated cancer burden, which is less than SCAQMD threshold of 0.5.

6.2 CEQA Appendix G Significance Thresholds

6.2.1 Threshold 1: Would the project conflict or obstruct implementation of the applicable air quality plan?

SCAQMD's 1993 CEQA Air Quality Handbook specifies the following two-criteria approach for assessing a Project's consistency with applicable SCAQMD and SCAG policies:

Criterion 1: Would the project result in any of the following:

- An increase in the frequency or severity of existing air quality violations; or
- Cause or contribute to new air quality violations; or
- Delay timely attainment of air quality standards or the interim emission reductions specified in the AQMP.

Criterion 2: Would the project exceed the assumptions utilized in preparing the AQMP?

- Is the Project consistent with the pollution and employment growth projections upon which AQMP forecasted emission levels are based;
- Does the Project include air quality mitigation measures; or
- To what extent is Project development consistent with the AQMP land use policies?

As discussed in Section 6.1.1, estimated emissions for the Project show that the maximum mass daily emissions for construction and operations are less than the SCAQMD mass daily significance thresholds for all criteria pollutants. In fact, as shown in Table ES-5, the Project will result in a net reduction in criteria pollutant emissions in both 2026 (Build Out) and 2042 (Horizon Year). Based on this analysis, the Project would not increase the frequency or severity of existing air quality violations, or cause or contribute to new air quality violations, and as a result, the Project would have a less than significant impact on regional air quality.

As discussed in Section 2.3.5.1, the most current air quality plan for the region is the SCAQMD 2016 AQMP, which is based on demographic growth forecasts for various socioeconomic categories developed by SCAG for their 2016-2040 RTP/SCS. Thus, consistency with the planning assumptions contained within the RTP/SCS demonstrates consistency with SCAQMD's 2016 AQMP.

The Project would not delay the goals of the AQMP because the Project does not cause any significant air quality impacts and it advances AQMP goals of encouraging alternative modes of transit and reducing emissions by decreasing vehicle miles traveled. Further, the Project is consistent with the SCAG RTP/SCS, a long-range transportation plan that is developed and updated by SCAG every four years. The RTP/SCS provides a vision for transportation investments throughout the region. Using growth forecasts and economic trends that project out over a 20-year period, the RTP/SCS considers the role of transportation in the broader context of economic, environmental, and quality-of-life goals for the future, identifying regional transportation strategies to address our mobility needs. The RTP/SCS integrates land use and transportation strategies that will achieve CARB's GHG emissions reduction targets in accordance with SB 375, with a key goal of reducing regional levels of vehicle miles traveled over time to decrease emissions from vehicles, which the Project would help advance by encouraging alternative modes of transit and decreasing vehicle miles traveled.[77]

The Project would not create any overall population growth; therefore, it has no effect on the growth assumptions used in the 2016 AQMP and 2016-2040 RTP/SCS, as well as the newer 2020-2045 RTP/SCS, Connect SoCal. Furthermore, the Project is an innovative transportation alternative that would decrease the number of people traveling to Dodger Stadium (and the surrounding area) in passenger vehicles and increase the number of people using public transit. This shift in transportation mode would reduce total VMT, which is consistent with the goals of these plans. As a result, no air quality mitigation measures have been proposed with the Project. The Project is consistent with these plans and would not impair or delay the region's ability to achieve the SCAQMD's goals for attainment of air quality standards.

6.2.2 Threshold 2: Would the project result in a cumulatively considerable net increase of any criteria pollutant for which the project region is non-attainment under an applicable federal or state ambient air quality standard?

The Project is located within Los Angeles County, which is currently designated as nonattainment for the federal and State O_3 standards, the State PM_{10} standards, the federal and State $PM_{2.5}$ standards, and the federal Pb standards. Ozone precursors include VOC and NO_X. To evaluate this significance criteria, the Project's estimated air quality emissions are compared to the SCAQMD significance thresholds. As discussed in Section 6.1.1, estimated emissions for the Project show that the maximum daily mass emissions for construction and operations are less than the SCAQMD mass daily significance thresholds for all criteria pollutants. As shown in Table ES-5, the Project will result in a net reduction in criteria pollutant emissions in both 2026 (Build Out) and 2042 (Horizon Year) by reducing vehicle miles travelled and thereby decreasing emissions compared to existing conditions. Therefore, the Project would not result in cumulatively considerable impacts for criteria pollutants for which the Project region is non-attainment. Further discussion on the cumulative impacts of the Project are presented in Section 7.

6.2.3 Threshold 3: Would the project expose sensitive receptors to substantial pollutant concentrations?

6.2.3.1 Localized Significance Thresholds

The SCAQMD's LST methodology was used to evaluate localized ambient air quality impacts and whether the Project would expose sensitive receptors to substantial pollutant concentrations. As discussed in Section 6.1.2, the maximum onsite emissions from Project construction are below the SCAQMD LST thresholds for construction of each of the Project components. As a result, the Project would have a less than significant impact.

6.2.3.2 Localized Carbon Monoxide Impacts

Based on the analysis below, the Project would not result in a CO "hot spot" and a CO "hot spots" analysis is not needed to determine whether the change in the level of service (LOS) of an intersection in the Project area would have the potential to result in exceedances of the CAAQS or NAAQS or expose sensitive receptors to substantial pollutant concentrations.

It has long been recognized that CO exceedances are caused by vehicular emissions,[78] primarily when idling at intersections.[79,80] Accordingly, vehicle emissions standards have become increasingly more stringent. Before the first vehicle emission regulations, cars in the 1950s were typically emitting about 87 grams of CO per mile.[81] Since the first regulation of CO emissions from vehicles (model year 1966) in California, vehicle emissions standards for CO applicable to light duty vehicles have decreased by 96 percent for automobiles,[82,83] and new cold weather CO standards have been implemented, effective for the 1996 model year.[84] Currently, the CO standard in California is a maximum of 4.2 grams/mile for passenger cars (with provisions for certain cars to emit less).[85] With the turnover of older vehicles, introduction of cleaner fuels and implementation of control technology on industrial facilities, CO concentrations in the SCAQMD have steadily declined.

The analysis prepared for CO attainment in the SCAB by the SCAQMD can be used to assist in evaluating the potential for CO exceedances in the SCAB. CO attainment was thoroughly analyzed as part of the SCAQMD's 2003 Air Quality Management Plan (2003 AQMP) and the 1992 Federal Attainment Plan for Carbon Monoxide (1992 CO Plan).[86] As discussed in the 1992 CO Plan, peak CO concentrations in the SCAB are due to unusual meteorological and topographical conditions, and not due to the impact of particular intersections. Considering the region's unique meteorological conditions and the increasingly stringent CO emissions standards, CO modeling was performed as part of 1992 CO Plan and subsequent plan updates and air quality management plans.

In the 1992 CO Plan, a CO hot spot analysis was conducted for four busy intersections in Los Angeles at the peak morning and afternoon time periods. The intersections evaluated included: Long Beach Blvd. and Imperial Highway (Lynwood); Wilshire Blvd. and Veteran Ave. (Westwood); Sunset Blvd. and Highland Ave. (Hollywood); and La Cienega Blvd. and Century Blvd. (Inglewood). These analyses did not predict a violation of CO standards. The busiest intersection evaluated was that at Wilshire Blvd. and Veteran Ave., which has a daily traffic volume of approximately 100,000 vehicles per day. The 2003 AQMP estimated that the 1-hour concentration for this intersection was 4.6 ppm, which indicates that the most stringent 1-hour CO standard (20.0 ppm) would likely not be exceeded until the daily traffic at the intersection exceeded more than 400,000 vehicles per day.[87] Metro evaluated the LOS in the vicinity of the Wilshire Blvd/Veteran Ave. intersection[88] and found it to be Level E at peak morning traffic and Level F at peak afternoon traffic.[89]

An analysis of the Project's intersections shows that the highest average daily traffic volumes at an intersection impacted by the Project is expected to be well below the daily traffic volumes that would be expected to generate CO exceedances as evaluated in the 2003 AQMP. Therefore, a CO "hot spots" analysis is not needed to determine whether Project-related vehicle trips would have the potential to result in exceedances that would expose sensitive receptors to substantial carbon monoxide concentrations. Localized carbon monoxide impacts would be less than significant.

6.2.4 Threshold 4: Would the project result in other emissions (such as those leading to odors) adversely affecting a substantial number of people?

According to the SCAQMD, land uses associated with odor complaints typically include agricultural uses, wastewater treatment plants, food processing plants, chemical plants, composting, refineries, landfills, dairies, and fiberglass molding. The Project does not include any uses identified by the SCAQMD as being associated with odors and is not expected to result in significant odors. Thus the Project would not result in odors adversely affecting a substantial number of people.

[87] Based on the ratio of the CO standard (20.0 ppm) and the modeled value (4.6 ppm).

7. CUMULATIVE ANALYSIS

The cumulative analysis for air quality is based on guidance provided by SCAQMD.[90] "As Lead Agency, the [SCAQMD] uses the same significance thresholds for project specific and cumulative impacts for all environmental topics analyzed in an Environmental Assessment or EIR. The only case where the significance thresholds for project specific and cumulative impacts differ is the HI significance threshold for TAC emissions. The project specific (project increment) significance threshold is HI > 1.0 while the cumulative (facility-wide) is HI > 3.0. Projects that exceed the project-specific significance thresholds are considered by the SCAQMD to be cumulatively considerable. This is the reason project-specific and cumulative significance thresholds are the same. Conversely, projects that do not exceed the project-specific thresholds are generally not considered to be cumulatively significant."

7.1 Construction Impacts

As discussed above, if a project exceeds the SCAQMD's recommended significance thresholds for project-specific impacts, then the project would be viewed as having a cumulatively significant impact. As shown in Section 6.1.1, the Project's estimated maximum mass daily emissions due to construction would be less than the SCAQMD mass daily significance thresholds for all criteria pollutants. Therefore, the Project's construction-related contribution to regional air emissions of these pollutants would not be cumulatively considerable.

Similarly, Section 6.1.2 evaluates Project-related construction emissions on localized ambient air quality concentrations of NO_2, CO, $PM_{2.5}$, and PM_{10} using SCAQMD LST methodology, and demonstrates that the Project would have a less-than-significant impact. Therefore, according to SCAQMD guidance, the Project's construction-related contribution to localized air quality concentrations of these pollutants would not be cumulatively considerable.

Lastly, regarding TAC emission impacts, Section 6.1.3 shows that construction of the Project would have a less-than-significant impact associated with TAC emissions because it would not exceed SCAQMD's MICR, HIC, or cancer burden thresholds. Therefore, according to SCAQMD guidance, the Project's construction-related contribution to TAC emission impacts would not be cumulatively considerable.

7.2 Operational Impacts

As discussed in Section 6.1.1, the estimated maximum mass daily emissions due to Project operations would be less than the SCAQMD mass daily significance thresholds for all criteria pollutants. Moreover, as shown in Table ES-5, the Project will result in a net reduction in criteria pollutant emissions in both 2026 (Build Out) and 2042 (Horizon Year). Therefore, according to SCAQMD guidance, the Project's operation-related contribution to regional air emissions of these pollutants would not be cumulatively considerable.

With respect to TAC emissions, the Project would not be a substantial source of TAC emissions, as such emissions are typically associated with large-scale industrial, manufacturing, and transportation hub facilities based on the CARB Air Quality and Land Use [90] SCAQMD. 2003. Cumulative Impacts White Paper-Appendix D. August. Available at: http://www.aqmd.gov/docs/default-source/Agendas/Environmental-Justice/cumulative-impacts-working-group/cumulative-impacts-white-paper-appendix.pdf?sfvrsn=4. Accessed: April 2022.

Handbook.[91] While the Project would likely generate minimal TAC emissions related to the use of consumer products and landscape maintenance activities, among other things, these sources are regulated by CARB and SCAQMD. Pursuant to California AB 1807, which directs CARB to identify substances as TACs and adopt airborne toxic control measures to control such substances, SCAQMD has adopted numerous rules (primarily in Regulation XIV) that specifically address TAC emissions. These SCAQMD rules have resulted in and will continue to result in substantial SCAB-wide TAC emissions reductions. In light of the above, and consistent with the SCAQMD's guidance on the assessment of cumulative impacts, the Project would not result in a cumulative impact relative to TAC emissions.

7.3 Odor Impacts

With respect to other emissions, such as those leading to potential odor impacts, the Project would not include any land uses identified by SCAQMD as being associated with odors. Thus, potential odor impacts from the Project would be less than significant and, consistent with the SCAQMD approach to assessing cumulative impacts, the Project would not result in a cumulative impact for odors.

7.4 AQMP Consistency

The cumulative analysis can also be evaluated in terms of consistency with SCAQMD's AQMP. As discussed in Section 2.3.5.1, SCAQMD and SCAG are jointly responsible for formulating and implementing the AQMP for the SCAB. SCAG's Regional Mobility Plan and Growth Management Plan form the basis for the land use and transportation control portion of the AQMP. Thus, consistency with the planning assumptions contained within the RTP/SCS demonstrates consistency with SCAQMD's 2016 AQMP.

The Project would not create any overall population growth; therefore, it would have no effect on the growth assumptions used in the 2016 AQMP, 2016-2040 RTP/SCS, and Connect SoCal. Moreover, as shown in Table ES-5, the Project will result in a net reduction in criteria pollutant emissions in both 2026 (Build Out) and 2042 (Horizon Year). As a result, the Project would be consistent with SCAG's 2016-2040 RTP/SCS and Connect SoCal, and the SCAQMD 2016 AQMP and would not impair the region's ability to achieve the SCAQMD's goals for attainment of air quality standards.

Projects with boundaries located closer than 25 meters to the nearest receptor should use the LSTs for receptors located at 25 meters." Notes:

[1] Trips are presented as round trips. One round trip consists of two one-way trips, e.g., for a worker/vendor/haul truck/shuttle to come to the site and leave the site. Trip counts by phase type are the same in all years of construction. Worker, haul, and shuttle trip counts provided by client.

[2] Worker, vendor, and hauling trip lengths are based on CalEEMod® defaults for Los Angeles County.

[3] Shuttle trip lengths are based on Google Maps default route from Union Station to Dodger Stadium.

Notes:

[1] Exposure to Project construction activity starting in 2024 was evaluated. The exposure durations for residential receptors during construction reflect the proposed construction schedule.

[2] Exposure parameters obtained from SCAQMD Permit Application Package "N" for Use in Conjunction with the Risk Assessment Procedures for Rules 1401, 1401.1 and 212 Version 8.1. Available at: http://www.aqmd.gov/docs/default-source/permitting/rule-1401-risk-assessment/attachmentn-v8-1.pdf?sfvrsn=4. Accessed: April 2022.

[3] Non-residential sensitive receptors, such as child care centers and schools, were conservatively modeled using the residential exposure scenario.

Abbreviations:

AT - averaging time
ASF - age specific factor
DBR - daily breathing rate
ED - exposure duration
EF - exposure frequency
FAH - fraction of time spent at home
kg - kilogram

Notes:

[1] This analysis conservatively assumes that exposure to Project construction begins from the third trimester to age 2. Since Project construction occurs over a 25-month period, exposure for the 2+ age group was not evaluated.

Notes:

[1] Includes emissions from running exhaust, running loss, tire wear, brake wear, starting exhaust, diurnal loss, hot soak, and resting loss. Emissions were estimated using fleet-weighted emission factors and project VMT and trip counts for workers and shuttles.

[2] Maximum value of emissions calculated using both winter and summer emission factors.

[3] Emission factor calculated following guidance in the CalEEMod® User's Guide, Appendix A, which is based on AP-42, Section 11.9 for bulldozing equipment. The equation is:

$EF_{PM10} = C_{PM15} \times s^{1.5} / M^{1.4} \times F_{PM10}$, where the following default values are used:

1.0 = C_{PM15}, arbitrary coefficient

6.9 = s, material silt content (%)

7.9 = M, material moisture content (%)

0.75 = F_{PM10}, PM_{10} scaling factor

[4] Emission factor calculated following guidance in the CalEEMod® User's Guide, Appendix A, which is based on AP-42, Section 11.9 for bulldozing equipment. The equation is:

$EF_{PM2.5} = C_{TSP} \times s^{1.2} / M^{1.3} \times F_{PM2.5}$, where the following default values are used:

5.7 = C_{TSP}, arbitrary coefficient

6.9 = s, material silt content (%)

7.9 = M, material moisture content (%)

0.105 = $F_{PM2.5}$, $PM_{2.5}$ scaling factor

[1] The VMT estimate was developed by Fehr & Peers and represents the travel associated with those going to and from major events at Dodger Stadium (i.e., Dodger games and concerts). This estimate also includes VMT associated with LA ART employees and Dodger employees traveling to/from the stadium.

[2] The annual trip estimate was calculated using an average trip length value derived from Fehr & Peers data.

Trip Length (mi) 22.3

[3] Mobile emissions were calculated using annual VMT and trip estimates along with emission factors in g/VMT and g/trip derived from EMFAC2021 for light duty vehicles as well as paved entrained road dust PM_{10} and $PM_{2.5}$ emission factors from AP-42. Calculations conservatively use the maximum of summer/winter emission factors. Annual emissions were then divided by 365 to obtain a daily estimate.

Notes:

[1] CalEEMod default fleet mix.

[2] Sum of running exhaust, running loss, tire wear, and brake wear emissions obtained from EMFAC2021 model output.

[3] Emission factors for EMFAC vehicle classes are estimated as a ratio of the EMFAC emissions output and EMFAC VMT output.

[4] Emission factors for EMFAC vehicle classes are weighted based on CalEEMod default fleet mix to estimate VMT-based emission factors for workers, vendors, haul trucks, and shuttles.

Notes:

[1] CalEEMod default fleet mix.

[2] Sum of starting exhaust, hot soak, and diurnal emissions obtained from EMFAC2021 model output.

[3] Emission factors for EMFAC vehicle classes are estimated as a ratio of the EMFAC emissions output and EMFAC trips output.

[4] Emission factors for EMFAC vehicle classes are weighted based on CalEEMod default fleet mix to estimate trip-based emission factors for workers and vendors.

Notes:

[1] Emission factor calculated following guidance in the CalEEMod® User's Guide, Appendix A, which is based on AP-42, Section 13.2.1 for vehicles traveling on on paved roads. The equation is:

$EF = k \times (sL)^{0.91} \times (W)^{1.02}$, where:

0.0022 = k_{PM10} (lb/VMT), PM_{10} particle size multiplier

0.00054 = $k_{PM2.5}$ (lb/VMT), $PM_{2.5}$ particle size multiplier

0.1 = sL (g/m^2), silt loading

2.4 = W (tons), mean vehicle weight

Notes:

[1] CalEEMod® default fleet mix.

[2] Sum of starting exhaust, hot soak, and diurnal emissions obtained from EMFAC2021 model output.

[3] Emission factors for EMFAC vehicle classes are estimated as a ratio of the EMFAC emissions output and EMFAC trips output.

[4] Emission factors for EMFAC vehicle classes are weighted based on CalEEMod default fleet mix to estimate trip-based emission factors.

Abbreviations:

CalEEMod® - California Emissions Estimator Model
CO - carbon monoxide
EMFAC - Emission Factors Model
g - grams
LDA - light-duty automobiles
LDT - light-duty trucks
NO_X - nitrogen oxides
PM_{10} - particulate matter less than 10 microns in aerodynamic diameter
$PM_{2.5}$ - particulate matter less than 2.5 microns in aerodynamic diameter
SO_2 - sulfur dioxide
